Boost in Pay Is Approved For Engineer

Councilmen Postpone Vote on Increase for Service Director Post

Consideration of pay raises for various city employes highlighted a regular meeting of Marion City Council Monday night at City Hall.

Substantial raises for the city engineer, his assistant and his draftsman were approved but an ordinance to raise the safety service director's salary requested by Mayor Gale D. Ireland was sent back to committee for additional study. It previously was rejected by the finance committee.

No Action Planned

And in answer to a letter from Safety Service Director R. Guy Bigelow that council consider pay raises for the police and firemen, R. G. Haldeman, finance committee chairman, said his committee "does not intend to act on these raises until the administration makes known its program for providing additional money."

The ordinance granting the pay raises in the engineering department was adopted unanimously and as emergency legislation.

They also had been requested by the administration at the last meeting of council on May 28. At that time Mr. Haldeman explained that the raises were requested because of an emergency situation existing in the engineering department.

He noted that one engineer already had resigned to accept better paying employment with the state highway department and another was proposing to follow suit.

The administration felt and the committee agreed that if the engineering department was to be continued it was necessary to raise the salaries to a point high enough to retain and employ trained personnel.

The raise granted to the engineer was up from the present $4,800 a year to $6,500 a year.

Assistant Raised

His assistant was raised from a straight $375 a month to $450 a month for the first 12 months of service, $475 a month for the second year and $500 a month after two years of service. This means the top salary for the assistant engineer is $6,000 a year.

The pay raise ordinance also in effect created the position of draftsman. But a draftsman has been employed in the department under the previous classification of City Engineer Assistant at $315 a month. In the new position the draftsman will be paid $325 a month for the first year of service and $350 a month after one year.

Mr. Haldeman pointed out in answer to a question by Richard Lister, at large, that the ordinance does not provide for any other salary changes in the department.

Asked how he felt about the new salary schedule, City Engineer John Ruth said, "It's all right, but no raise was provided in one bracket covering the department inspec-

3 Principals Selected by Local Board

Fogt Will Head Public Relations; Miss Gregg To Supervise Grades

The Marion Board of Education Monday night created the posts of director of public relations and school research and elementary supervisor.

Norman Fogt now principal at Taft Junior High School, was selected to fill the position of director of public relations and school research. Miss Philomen Gregg a teacher and administrator in the Marion City Schools since 1920 and now principal at George Washington School, was selected as the elementary supervisor.

Gets 5-Year Contract

The board also awarded Robert S. Brown, school superintendent, a five year contract calling for an increase of $500 at the beginning of each year. The contract will become effective July 1 and will supersede one year of a two-year contract awarded last year. Mr. Brown is currently receiving $10,000 a year.

In granting Mr. Brown his new contract the board members said the action was their way of expressing a vote of confidence in the work and program being carried out by the superintendent. He came to Marion in 1954 to succeed Lester L. Dickey.

In order to fill the vacancies created by the appointment of Miss Gregg and Mr. Fogt to their new positions the board promoted three other members of the school staff.

Shank Goes to Taft

Marion Shank now principal at Oakland and Olney Elementary Schools, was named principal at Taft succeeding Mr. Fogt. George Whitehead, a teacher at Edison Junior High School, was named to fill Mr. Shank's position. Virgil L. Anderson, now a teacher at Taft, was named to the position of principal at George Washington school, succeeding Miss Gregg.

The offices filled by Mr. Fogt and Miss Gregg are entirely new for the local school administration. Mr. Brown explained duties of the director of public relations and school research as follows:

1. He shall assist and be directly responsible to the superintendent in all matters pertaining to public relations and school research.
2. He shall coordinate all press and radio releases pertaining to the individual schools and departments in the central office.
3. He shall conduct needed research in all matters pertaining to pupils instruction, material and personnel.
4. He shall insure uniformity in the schools as related to visual aids materials.

Ike 'Feeling Fine,' Signs Documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed three documents. And his press secretary said the chief executive is "feeling fine" on this fourth day after his intestinal operation.

This was the first time Eisenhower had signed an official paper since the emergency surgery Saturday.

The President affixed his signatures while sitting up in a chair and holding the papers on his knee.

Gets Report on Aid

At the same time he received a report from his chief assistant, Sherman Adams, on this morning's bi-partisan meeting at the White House on the foreign aid bill and asked Adams to thank personally all the senators who took part in the meeting.

Eisenhower held what amounted to a regular staff meeting. It lasted about 15 minutes. Besides Adams he conferred with Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Pearsons, his liaison man with Congress and White House Staff Secretary Andrew J. Goodpaster.

3 Documents Signed

The papers Eisenhower signed were:

1. An emergency allocation of $50,000 for federal aid to flooded areas in Clear Creek and Jefferson counties, Colorado. The areas were damaged by a break in the Georgetown Dam as the result of runoff from winter snows.

2. An executive order approving a new design of the U. S. Army flag. One of the new flags bearing the Army seal, will be presented to Secretary of the Army Brucker June 30.

3. The international wheat agreement for 1956. This becomes effective automatically unless the Senate disapproves it within 30 days.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty described the documents signed today as routine in nature — about the same number as the President might normally sign in a morning at the White House.

Most Comfortable Night

Hagerty's noon-day report followed a morning statement from the President's doctors that he passed his most comfortable night since the operation, his spirits are high and his morale good.

The 8:15 a. m. (EDT) medical bulletin was issued a few hours before Eisenhower, in Walter Reed Army Hospital, was to confer with his chief aide, Sherman Adams, on the outcome of a White House conference on the foreign aid bill.

Details of Bulletin

The medical bulletin said:

"The President had a more comfortable night than he has had to date.

"As of this morning his temperature is 99, his pulse is 80, his blood pressure is 132 over 70, and his respiration is 20—all of which indicate an essentially normal reaction at this time.

"His spirits are high. His morale is good."

The bulletin came three days after Eisenhower underwent emer-

Soviet Attitude Encouraging, Dulles Thinks

Too Early Yet To Tell Whether Stalinism's 'Evils' Are Wiped Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today there are encouraging developments in Soviet behavior. But he said it is hard to judge yet whether the Russian regime will become more responsive to the people or revert to the "evils" of Stalinism.

Dulles told a news conference that what he called the evil fruits of Stalin's rule, as reported in the famous Khrushchev speech, were the product of a "system of Dictatorship."

"We can hope," Dulles said "that Khrushchev's revelations will mark the beginning of a change away from the system of dictatorship. But that, I fear, may not be his purpose.

"The purpose may be merely to persuade the subject people that the present dictatorship is good, because it condemns the past dictatorship."

Under questioning, Dulles said he regarded as probably true reports that the present regime is giving Soviet workers greater freedom to choose their jobs.

Such things as this, Dulles said, are encouraging developments which indicate a growing demand in the Soviet Union for a government more responsive to the legitimate desires of the governed.

But at the moment, he said, it is hard to judge which way the Soviet regime will go.

Indiana Bandit Takes $65,000

Head of Southpoint Bank, Wife Kidnaped

SOUTHPORT, Ind. (AP)—A gunman masked with a stocking kidnaped a bank president and his wife from their home early today, held them in the Southport State Bank almost six hours, and escaped with about $65,000 after the vault time lock was released.

Six women employes reported for work while the robber was holding Mr. and Mrs. John A. Whalen and they were lined up together along one side of the bank by the revolver-waving gunman.

The robber escaped in Whalen's 1956 black Oldsmobile.

The Whalens were accosted in their southeastern Indianapolis home about 2:30 a.m. Indianapolis is nine miles north of Southport.

The gunman, armed with a nickel-plated revolver, was described as 30 to 35 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighing about 155 pounds. He wore a brown coat over a black and white sports shirt.

Paul Robeson May Be Cited For Contempt

House Probers Vote To Ask Action After Clash During Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities today voted to cite Paul Robeson for contempt of Congress.

The vote came after a furious shouting session between the left wing Negro singer and Chairman Walter (D-Pa) and other members of the committee.

Adjourns Session

Walter finally banged his gavel in the midst of an expostulation by Robeson and declared the hearing adjourned.

Still flushed, the chairman convened the committee for a business session and it immediately voted unanimously to recommend that Robeson be cited for contempt. The recommendation goes to Congress which has the power to vote the actual citation.

The committee called Robeson in an inquiry, begun last month, into possible use of American passports by Communists or fellow travelers.

Has Prepared Statement

Robeson came to the session with a prepared statement declaring his 'fight for a passport is a struggle for freedom."

He has been in a court fight with the government over denial of travel documents he had sought for trips abroad.

Robeson told a reporter, "there was no contempt. I answered every question. I was just standing my ground."

"This is absurd, they won't vote it, Congress won't vote it."

Ceremony To Dedicate New 'White Way' Setup

Preliminary plans for a dedication ceremony to turn on the Center St. section of Marion's new "white way" street lighting system were set up at a meeting Monday afternoon in the Ohio Edison Co. offices on S. Main St.

Sponsored by the Retail Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, the ceremony is slated for shortly after 9 p.m. Friday, June 29.

HAROLD J. GRIGSBY, division manager of the Ohio Edison Co., said the plans are to start the ceremony about 9 p.m. with a recorded musical interlude.

About 9:15 p.m., public officials, representatives of the retail merchants, the Chamber of Commerce, observers and guests from other cities and other interested persons will gather on the south side of the Courthouse on E. Center St., he said.

After brief remarks by some of the officials, the old lighting system on Center St. will be turned off plunging the street into darkness for a few minutes after which Mayor Gale D. Ireland will throw a switch turning on the new system along Center St. from Greenwood St. west to Davids St., Mr. Grigsby said.

Once the Center St. section is turned on, it will remain in use and other sections of the white way system will be completed and turned on in quick succession but without ceremony, Mr. Grigsby added.

HE ALSO pointed out that because of technical difficulties and the necessity of maintaining the old lighting system until the new system is turned on, it is impossible to turn on the entire new lighting system at one time.

In addition to Center St. the new lighting system is being installed on Main St., Prospect St., State St., and Church St. in the downtown area.

The meeting Monday was attended by representatives of the retail merchants and company officials.

Steelworkers Look for Offer

Industry May State Position by Friday

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Steelworkers of America has called its 170-member wage policy committee to a meeting here Friday, apparently in anticipation of a contract offer from the nation's "Big Three" steel producers.

A union announcement Monday said only that the committee was being summoned to keep it informed of negotiations but the union had said earlier it looked for an industry wage offer some time during the week.

Meanwhile, the union's 39 member executive board was scheduled to meet here this afternoon. The board usually makes recommendation to the policy committee.

Union management negotiations were recessed Monday until Wednesday.

Wage contract talks started June 5. The union is seeking an unspecified but 'substantial" pay boost for 350,000 employes of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic.

Any agreement is expected to set a pattern for the entire 650,000 man industry.

The three producers have yet to make a counter-offer to the union. The present contract expires June 30. Present average wages are about $2.47 an hour.

House Cut Called Injurious

Senate Chiefs Get Plea To Restore Slash in Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration civilian and military leaders urged Senate Republican and Democratic leaders today to restore at least 600 million dollars of the $1,100,000,000 slashed from the foreign aid bill by the House.

The Senate leaders said after a White House conference that Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told them 'great injury" would be done if 600 million dollars was not added to the $3,800,000,000 authorization measure passed by the House Monday by a 273-122 vote.

Session Held

President Eisenhower scheduled the White House session before he was stricken with his intestinal illness, and it was held despite his absence.

From his hospital bed, Eisenhower sent an oral plea through Sherman Adams, his chief assistant for the full $4,900,000,000 he originally asked.

Adams presided at the meeting of the senators with Dulles and Radford.

At Walter Reed Army Hospital, where Eisenhower is recovering from abdominal surgery, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President would not send a written message to the conference.

Hagerty said, Adams would tell the group of Eisenhower's "deep interest" in the foreign aid bill and would say "the President feels that the support of NATO has been really undercut" by the fund slashing in the House.

Hagerty said Adams on behalf of the President would urge that the full $4,900,000,000 recommended by the administration be restored during Senate action on the legislation.

Republican Senate leaders reportedly have told Eisenhower's aides to pare administration foreign aid requests below $4,300,000,000.

In an unannounced session, the GOP leaders reviewed prospects for Senate action on a $3,800,000,000 foreign assistance authorization bill passed 273-122 by the House Monday.

One Republican, who asked not to be named, said Eisenhower's assistants were told they would be lucky if the Senate added half a billion dollars to the House figure. The administration originally requested $4,900,000,000.

The President's aides were told firmly, this conferee said that they must justify fully and in detail any proposed increases over the House ceiling. Even then, the consensus of the GOP leaders was that it would be difficult to obtain any boosts.

Warns Against Slash

John B. Hollister, director of the International Cooperation Administration, has said that if the billion-dollar cut in military aid funds is allowed to stand, it would "seriously impair programs essential to the defense of the United States."

Leading Democrats made it clear heavy weight will be put behind a move to slash the House amount further in the Senate.

Sen. Long (D-La), who has sponsored fund-cutting amendments in the past, said he was happy about the House slash and hopes the Senate will make further reductions.

Test Scheduled July 9 To Fill Police Position

Date for an examination for chief of the Marion police department was set at a meeting of the Marion Civil Service Commission Monday night at City Hall.

H. W. Monnette, commission chairman, reported the examination will be held on July 9 providing sufficient applications are received by the commission prior to the filing deadline at 6:30 p.m. July 2.

Only Inspector Justin Cornely and Captains George Manley Marion B. Tatham and Clyde Hardin will be eligible to take the examination he said.

But if less than two of them apply for the examination, it will be necessary to reschedule it and extend the eligibility list to the four sergeants in the department, Mr. Monnette said. They are Virgil H. Campbell, Z. G. McClenathan, Clifford Lester and J. E. Richardson.

The examination was requested June 1 by Safety-Service Director R. Guy Bigelow to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Thomas B. Coon. In a letter to where he had gone on a month's vacation and sick leave, Mr. Coon said that he wished to resign as chief of the city police department in order to establish his own private business in Florida.

Electronic Gadget Aids In Sale of Lemon Crops

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Lemons are contrary things. A green fruit, or a yellow one, or shades in between, may be ripe, but housewives just don't buy green lemons.

The industry has had the expense of sorting the fruit by hand, sending the green ones to storage for color correction. Now it has an electronic eye that sorts the fruit into four color grades.

It does the work of 20 or more girls. Each lemon goes to one of four groups. Uniform yellows go to market. The others go to storage where they slowly change color to yellow. The grading is the key as to how long the fruit is in storage.

USE LESS OIL...or both!

CHALLENGING 1000-MILE OFFER on PURE'S High-Horsepower Combination of Gasoline and Oil

Offer open to both regular and premium gasoline users

Use High HP Purelube Motor Oil and PURE Gasoline (Premium or regular, whichever you normally use) for 1,000 miles. If you have been using a 10-W, 20, or 30 grade oil, you will burn less gasoline . . . use less oil, or both . . . or we will give you any oil which may have to be added in a 1,000-mile oil change period. Offer good until July 31, 1956. Ask your Pure Oil dealer for details.

Why we make this offer

We want to help our regular customers and make a lot of new friends. We figure the best way to do this is to let you prove to yourself that you can save on gas, oil, or both, by using High HP Purelube in your crankcase and PURE gasoline in your gas tank.

How the High-Horsepower Combination works

High HP Purelube, with its special combination of high-cleansing additives, cleans up your engine.

PURE'S two great gasolines burn clean because they are made clean by careful processing and refining.

Used together, High HP Purelube and PURE gasoline clean up your engine and keep it clean. They maintain your car's High-Horsepower performance and economy. Prove it in your car.

SPECIAL OCTANE BONUS for High-Horsepower Engines

If your car is a 1953 to 1956 model, it has a high-compression engine, designed to deliver high horsepower. After the "break-in" period, these modern engines tend to develop a thirst for more octane in the gasoline they burn. Unless they get it, they tend to knock and lose power.

PURE'S High-Horsepower Combination keeps your engine clean, actually reduces the deposits which cause this octane thirst.

The result: Your engine gets a special bonus in knock-free power—the equivalent of up to 4 octane numbers. New cars keep their showroom power, older cars regain it.

This special OCTANE BONUS is yours when you use High HP Purelube motor oil and either of two great PURE gasolines. Why not give it a try, starting today?

There's always something new and better at your Pure Oil dealer's!

PUCO Grants Rail Freight Rate Increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state utilities commission Monday authorized Ohio railroads to increase freight rates by about six per cent.

A spokesman for the 10 principal railroads in Ohio said the increase was designed to hold earnings at levels which existed before recent wage boosts. The railroads originally sought a seven per cent increase.

The commission said the railroads operated in 1955 at a return on net investment of 4.38 per cent. Since Oct. 1, 1955, the return has decreased to 2.81 per cent, the commission added.

The increase will result in a return of between 4.05 and 5.19 per cent, the commission estimated.

In other action, the commission set hearing for July 25 on an application by the New York Central Railroad Co. to discontinue operation of its station at Palos, Athens County.

A similar application by the New York Central to discontinue operations at Slater in Auglaize County was dismissed when the railroad informed the commission that the station was a relay station instead of a freight station and commission authority was not necessary.

The commission authorized the Lima Security Moving Co. to issue 32 shares of common stock at $100 par value to provide working capital.

Scout Camp Chaplain

Rev. Koehler Fills Boy Scout Position

Rev. Paul D. Koehler of Hamler in Henry County, a native of Upper Sandusky, has been chosen as the Protestant chaplain for Boy Scout Camp Owens this summer, beginning June 24. He has been pastor of St. Stephen's Lutheran Church in Hamler since graduation from Capital University Seminary in Columbus in 1952. He has been associated with Scouting a number of years.

Employed by the Protestant committee on Scouting for the Harding area, he will serve for the full camping period which continues through July 28. Churches of four counties have made the chaplain program possible through their various contributions.

Graduated from Upper Sandusky High School, Rev. Koehler was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church there. At Capital University he played football and baseball and participated in dramatics as extra-curricular activities.

A member of Boy Scout Troop 43 in Upper Sandusky, he was later assistant, then Scoutmaster of the troop. He served as Scoutmaster of Troop 168 in Columbus and is now associated with Troop 88, sponsored by his congregation. Besides holding the rank of Eagle Scout, he has earned the Order of the Arrow. He is married and has two daughters.

Ore Hauling Gains

CLEVELAND (AP)—The biggest week of the season for iron ore shipping ended Monday when 2,980,429 tons in cargoes for the seven-day period was reported by the Lake Superior Iron Ore Assn. That total, slightly ahead of the previous week, raised the 1956 tonnage so far to 22,661,738 tons, exceeding last year's shipments up to June 11 by 3,063,702 tons. The season is only about one-fourth completed, indicating that if the pace holds the 1956 tonnage may be close to 90 million tons.

Trade Agreements Studied by Group Of Local Chamber

Multilateral trade agreements with other countries were discussed by members of the Manufacturers Council of the Marion Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Monday noon at Hotel Harding.

But no action was taken on the matter which also is the subject of a referendum issue of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce now being voted on by members throughout the nation.

The group also discussed a number of other issues at the meeting. Among them were such things as the Marion arterial highway report and needed sewer improvements. Members were urged to attend Monday night's meeting of city council to encourage proper action on streets and sewers.

It also was reported that local industry is in an "excellent position" with generally full production and business at its best level since World War II. Many manufacturers also stated that orders are still coming in and some said they were as much as 60-days behind in filling a large backlog of orders.

Chairman Cline Welch also announced that the Personnel Club will meet Wednesday noon at the hotel and the Industrial Safety Council will meet at the hotel June 27.

State Board Cautious Over Schools' Head

Ohio Superintendent Of Public Instruction Seen as Vital Position

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The State Board of Education is moving cautiously in making its first selection of a state superintendent of public instruction.

That was indicated by Board President Robert A. Manchester of Canfield after Monday night's meeting of the board here. Said Manchester:

"We are proceeding cautiously. It is a serious thing, and we will have to live with the decision a long time."

The board meets again today, but Manchester said he believes the matter of appointing a new superintendent will be postponed. The board, authorized up by a constitutional amendment last fall, continued the present superintendent, R. M. Eyman in office pending decision on a permanent appointment. Eyman also is one of six men being considered for the permanent appointment.

At Monday night's session the board adopted a resolution sponsored by Loren E. Souers Jr., of Canton, calling upon the Ohio attorney general to rule how the board may determine if local school boards are complying with state school laws.

Souers said the board was informed at its last meeting of one instance of padded school attendance rolls.

The board ordered further study of an organizational plan for the State Department of Education which would include a deputy superintendent, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction and an assistant superintendent of administration and finance.

'SOFA WINGS' CUSHION VERTICAL LANDINGS. In this artist's conception of the new Ryan "Vertiplane," the wings, with fully lowered double flaps, suggest an inverted sofa. To be built for the Army for use where space for takeoffs and landings either is limited or not available, the plane is said to be able to take off or land vertically, or to hover like a helicopter. Two propellers driven by a single gas turbine are planned for the liaison-type craft on which the adjustable flaps can be leveled for conventional flight, or lowered fully for a 90-degree deflection of the propeller slipstream to cushion vertical landings.

History of Local Kiwanis Club Is Compiled by 2 Past Officials

The history of the Kiwanis Club of Marion, its 35 years of "service and fun," has been reviewed in a booklet compiled by a past president and a past secretary of the club. Copies of the booklet have been distributed to the club members.

The two men responsible for gathering the information which went into the booklet were A. W. Kette and J. Douglas Torrance, both active members of the club. They were given assistance by various club members.

Organized in 1921

According to the booklet the Marion club came into being in January, 1921, and was organized by a group that included Dr. James W. McMurray as president and Grant E. Mouser Jr., B. T. Wiant, E. T. Smart, L. Montei and E. H. Cowan as directors.

The club's community service work with boys and girls and young people, which has culminated into an extensive program among underprivileged children and with sponsoring boys and girls of the city in various activities, was started during its very first year.

In that year, the club donated $24 to send boys to the YMCA camp at Hepburn.

Each year, youth projects of the club have increased. For several years the club held annual Christmas parties for the boys and girls at the Marion County Children's Home and has sponsored monthly trips to the movies for those boys and girls.

In 1953, the 20th anniversary of the Junior Kiwanian project was celebrated in which boys from Harding High School and from St. Mary High School attend club meetings for a period of several weeks during the school year.

Work for Children

Annually, since 1949, the club has cooperated with National Kids Day. All money realized locally in this project is used for work with underprivileged children, which annually includes medical and dental work of various kinds. Last year, the club's expenditures for the underprivileged totaled $1,573.15.

W. Leonard Young is the present president of the club. Ten of the club's past presidents are deceased.

The past presidents include Dr. McMurray (deceased), Charles W. McClain (deceased), John H. Clark, Earl T. Smart (deceased), George Whysall (deceased), A. W. Kette, Dr. F. A. Stengel (deceased), G. Farr Larie, Ed C. Watters, F. L. Alexander (deceased), Asa Queen (deceased), C. F. Bronson, C. Z. Zachman (deceased), Carl E. Danner, Harry F. Margwarth, Oscar Gast (deceased), Jack J. Westerville Youth Leads Ticket in Boys' State Sweep

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—A 16-year-old Westerville youth Monday led the entire slate of Nationalist candidates into the six state offices at the 19th annual Buckeye Boys' State.

Richard H. Gorsuch was inaugerated governor Monday night, taking the oath from Associate Justice Charles Zimmerman of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Going into office with Gorsuch were Lt. Gov. John H. Clark, Toledo; Secretary of State Lindsay Humphrey, Akron; Treasurer Bill J. Zuga, Warren; Auditor Clarence Warfield, Sandusky; and Atty. Gen. Mark Levine, Cleveland.

Officials who supervised the election at the American Legion-sponsored "state" said this was the first time they could recall that one party won all the state offices. The vote was heavy, with all but three of the 901 boy citizens casting ballots. Gorsuch won by a 2-1 margin over Bill Lee Spencer, 18, of Youngstown, the Federalist nominee.

Engineer Gets 30 Days, Fine For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Norton Anthony Russell, 38, Yellow Springs, Ohio engineer who refused to answer questions before a House committee in 1954, Monday was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $500 for contempt of Congress.

Russell's attorneys filed notice of appeal and he was released under $1,000 bond.

Russell was convicted in Federal District Court May 31 on three charges of contempt. Originally he was indicted on 16 counts of contempt growing out of his refusal to answer questions while testifying before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The committee was inquiring into alleged Communist activities at Antioch College during the time Russell was a student there.

Film Industry Black-Listing Claims Denied

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Damage claims of 23 actors, writers and other film workers who said they were on a Hollywood "black list" have been denied by the State District Court of Appeal.

The plaintiffs contended they have been prevented from getting movie work since Sept. 20, 1951, because of refusals to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee.

They sued every major film company and film distributing company, plus Reps. Doyle (D-Calif) and Jackson (R-Calif), members of the House committee. The group claimed the movie industry agreed not to hire anyone whose political beliefs were not acceptable to the House committee.

The 23 including film players Gale Sondergaard, Anne Revere and Howard da Silva and writers Waldo Salt and Paul Jerrico, asked damages of 2¾ million dollars.

Their claims were dismissed in superior court, which held there were no guarantees of employment for those involved. The 23 appealed from the dismissal.

Apparent Switch in Tactics Seen as 'Cover-Up'

U.S. Reds Still Follow Kremlin Line

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The leaders of the American Communist party at a secret meeting in March, decided to differ with the Russian leadership from time to time—but never on basic issues.

The information comes from a source which cannot be named but is completely reliable. The decision does not mean any break between Moscow and the U. S. party leaders who for years have slavishly followed every twist in the Moscow line.

Far from it. It is simply a switch in tactics intended to make the American party look less like a Russian stooge and to try to gain some influence and tolerance in the United States.

BUT LAST WEEK'S startling editorial in the party newspaper, the Daily Worker, sharply criticizing the new Russian leaders cannot be assumed to reflect the party's new tactics.

It is an educated guess—and that phrase is used carefully—that John Gates, Daily Worker editor, has already been secretly condemned by the party leaders for going much further than they liked or intended.

The March meeting followed the February attack made in Moscow on the dead Stalin by Communist party boss Khrushchev. He talked to the party's 20th Congress and said his remarks should not be leaked to the public.

But they were leaked. Last week the State Department made public a 25,000-word version of Khrushchev's speech.

—:—

KHRUSHCHEV suggested Communists around the world switch tactics and try to create popular fronts with Socialists and others in order to take over peacefully when and where they can.

He specifically said, however, that revolution still would be necessary in those countries which resisted overthrow without violence.

It is also an educated guess that the U. S. Communist party received—before its March meeting and after Khrushchev's talk—instructions from the Kremlin on what line to follow in order to gain more power here.

The same reliable source which provided the information about the secret March meeting said Eugene Dennis, the party's secretary and real leader, laid down the new line at the meeting.

HE QUOTED Dennis that it would have been smarter if through the years the American Communists had not always gone along—in public—100 per cent with everything Moscow said or did.

As an example, Dennis is said to have cited the party's complete endorsement of the 1939 Hitler-Stalin pact which not only shocked Americans in general but so disillusioned many Communists that they got out of the party in droves.

Dennis reportedly said it would have been shrewder if the party had straddled the fence on the Hitler-Stalin agreement. Dennis, 51, was one of the 11 top Communists found guilty in 1949 of conspiracy to teach overthrow of the government. He was given five years in jail.

EDITOR GATES' editorial in the Daily Worker last week criticized Khrushchev, in denunciation of Stalin, for not mentioning Stalin's attacks on the Jews. It raised questions about the role played by Khrushchev and the other new Russian leaders in Stalin's lifetime.

Gates, 43, was one of the 11 Communists convicted with Dennis. He, too, drew five years. It is possible the party may try to find some way of repudiating Gates' editorial, even to saying it does not represent the party's views.

In short, the American Communist leaders want to give the appearance, but not too strongly, of being their own men. They know that being considered Russian stooges stands in the way of any progress they hope to make.

Named State's Outstanding

Foster Mother of 38 Is Honored in New Jersey

EAST BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP)—"It all started after our only daughter got married," says Mrs. William Yates, mother of 38 foster daughters, who will be honored today as New Jersey's Foster Mother of the Year.

Gov. Robert B. Meyner will present Mr. and Mrs. Yates, of Old Bridge, a silver tray donated by the State Board of Child Welfare.

The silver-haired woman said when her daughter, now Mrs. Albert Latschar of Franklin Township, got married some 25 years ago, she told her husband she would be lonely.

"Since then," she said, "we've had foster children at home . . sometimes as many as six or seven girls."

Yates said sometimes he would take his grandson and one of his adopted daughters and go to a swimming pool.

"Well," he said "we were the center of attraction when people saw two kids of the same age, one calling me 'father' and the other 'grandfather' . . ."

Mrs. Yates explained her foster children are all girls "because we want them at home, and girls spend more time at home."

"The only way to bring up a child is to teach the child to have respect for the home," she said.

Her 38 foster daughters visit her very often, she said, and one lives next to her home. But despite the commotion the house is spotless.

The walls are covered with photographs. Many wedding pictures are also in the house.

Mrs. Yates says her fondest memory of her "daughters" is when the natural grandparents of two of her foster girls wanted them to go and live with them. The children refused, she said, and stayed with her and grew up like natural sisters.

"One night," she said "around Christmas, I was in the house. I saw no real young children around. I immediately went to the local welfare board and brought back home a foster child."

Bellanca Corp. Sound Despite Debts, Ohio Financier Claims

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—With stock of his Bellanca Corp. dropping sharply in price, Sydney L. Albert of Akron, the company's president, said he expected today to "wipe off" debts which have caused judgment actions against him in three Ohio common pleas courts.

The 48-year-old financier issued this statement Monday after Bellanca stock sold 345,000 shares and closed at 7⅜, down 1⅝ for Monday's trading and following a 5¼ point decline last Friday:

"I have been in constant touch with the financial affairs of Bellanca, and I am satisfied that its condition is sound and that there is no material change in its operations which would have any adverse affect on its future prospects."

The three judgment actions were brought by Associated Discount Corp. of South Bend, Ind. Ashtabula County Common Pleas Court Monday awarded a $1,286,000 judgment against Lake City Malleable Co. of Ashtabula on a promissory note Associates Discount said was signed by Albert, issued in December, 1954, and one year past due. Albert is president of Malleable's Ashtabula plant.

Other judgment actions are pending in Cleveland and Akron courts.

Albert's constantly changing industrial holdings, most of them controlled through Bellanca Corp., a holding company that formerly was Bellanca Aircraft Corp., are still expanding. On May 5 Bellanca acquired Selby Shoe Co. of Portsmouth. Monday night Albert said he has agreements to purchase hotels in Alliance, Bucyrus and Ironton, Ohio.

Convicted Boys To Go To Ohio's Penitentiary

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Three Hazel Park, Mich., youths will be taken to Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus today to begin serving life sentences for the slaying of a tavern operator.

The three—Bernard Harris, 18, Willie Thomas, 20; and James Thornton, 18—originally had been sentenced to Mansfield Reformatory after they pleaded guilty to second degree murder charges in connection with the Jan. 24 slaying of Charles H. Stolzenbach, 54.

But Auglaize County Sheriff Robert Davidson said under Ohio law the reformatory cannot accept the three and that they will have to go to the penitentiary.

Candy Sales Gain

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you ate more than 16.6 pounds of candy last year, you ate more than your share. The Commerce Department says that was an average consumption per person in 1955, as the confectionery industry turned out 2,724,000,000 pounds of candy and set a new dollar sales record of $1,031,000,000.

Famed Beauty Spot Up for Taxes

Sad News for the Irish: Killarney Is To Be Sold

KENMARE, County Kerry, Ireland (AP)—'Tis a hard thing to have to tell. But Missus Beatrice Grosvenor confirmed today she wants to sell Killarney.

There'll be tears in the beers of the Boston Irish and keening by tenors in Timbuctu but, says Mrs. Grosvenor, what must be must be.

The British tax man wants 70,000 pounds ($196,000) inheritance duty on the family estate. She hates to do it, but the 40-year-old Mrs. Grosvenor has had to put the famous Irish beauty spot on the block to raise the money.

The estate includes properties both in Britain and Ireland. The British are not trying to collect death duties on the Irish properties — the Irish will attend to that. But duties on the property in Britain are so high that the trustees feel Mrs. Grosvenor must sell some of her Irish lands to raise the necessary cash.

Her Kenmare estate embraces all of the Killarney lakes, three picturesque mountain-ringed bodies of water in central County Kerry. Mrs. Grosvenor said she will have to sell 8,300 acres, including the vast, 18-bedroom Kenmare House, the country seat of her late grandfather, the Earl of Kenmare.

She will keep about 1,000 acres and will build a new house—"something small and simple"—on a hill where an earlier Kenmare house burned in 1913.

The mistress of Killarney said she hopes to receive an offer for the property from the Irish government or perhaps "from a wealthy American of Irish descent." She didn't mention a price—but that tax figure gives some indication.

The Killarney Tourist Development Co. promptly announced it will bid for the scenic area.

"Owing to its importance to the people of Killarney and the nation as a whole," an announcement said, "this company, which is a public one and representative of all local interests, is prepared to undertake the purchase of the property offered for sale."

48 Waiters Pass Final Waldorf-Astoria Exams

NEW YORK (AP) — Forty-eight students breezed through their final examinations Monday, serving breast of chicken and pouring red wine at the Waldorf, Astoria Hotel.

The students were completing a 40-hour waiter's course conducted jointly by the New York City Community College and the Waldorf.

Judges were 95 hotel executives, union officials and teachers at the college. Not one gravy-stained trouser or buttered sleeve was reported.

Bermuda Shorts Out

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Muskegon police have nixed Bermuda shorts for hot weather wear, but are shedding neckties for the summer. Chief Fred E. Castenholz said he got an overwhelming "no" on Bermuda shorts in an informal poll, and that one patrolman summed up the force's reaction thus: "They'd laugh us off the streets."

'Influence' Hit In Income Tax Court Delays

8 Postponements in Sachs Case Charged By Federal Attorney

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A government prosecutor says the Irving Sachs income tax case was delayed eight times by "utterly senseless investigations and reinvestigations."

Wyllys S. Newcomb, chief government counsel, made the charge Monday as he summed up the government's evidence in the conspiracy trial of Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle, who held high places in the Truman administration.

A "sinister outside influence" worked on the Sachs case "from the moment it got to Washington," Newcomb charged

The prosecutor told a federal jury evidence in the lengthy trial indicates "beyond the slightest shadow of a doubt that the Sachs case was fixed" by Connelly, Caudle and Harry I. Schwimmer, attorney for Sachs

Connelly was White House appointments secretary under former President Truman Caudle headed the Justice Department's Tax Division They are accused of conspiring to defraud the government.

Schwimmer was a defendant in the trial until he became ill and was granted a mistrial.

Sachs, a St Louis shoe manufacturer, was fined $40,000 for tax evasion on a guilty plea in 1951 but escaped a term in prison on health grounds

Connelly testified he received a topcoat from Schwimmer while at the Muehlbach Hotel in Kansas City the day before the presidential election in 1952, He said the White House staff was "deluged with gifts" at that time.

He testified, "Schwimmer's gift had nothing to do with any case Sachs meant nothing to me"

A government rebuttal witness, Rocco Pedicini, Kansas City tailor, testified Schwimmer called him in July 1952 to the Kansas City hotel, where he measured Connelly for two suits costing $315 They were sent to Connelly in Washington.

New Decision

When President Eisenhower announced he would accept a second nomination for the presidency last March, he said the final decision would be up to the Republican nominating convention.

A few days later the President said in a press conference he would withdraw as a potential candidate if his health ever failed to a point where he could not perform his duties properly.

In that event he said, "I would no longer be there in the job or I wouldn't be available for the job." The final decision would be taken away from the nominating convention, in that event.

President Eisenhower's coronary occlusion last September has been added to this June by a partial stoppage of his intestinal tract, possibly the aggravated form of a chronic weakness that has caused recurrent digestive upsets over a period of years.

It is as uncertain now as it was after the heart attack whether recovery from the surgery required to overcome the stoppage will be complete.

In the meantime, the whole question of Mr. Eisenhower's health in relation to the responsibilities of the presidency has been reopened. Everybody had thought of the possibility of a second heart attack, but almost no thought had been given to the possibility of something different that might be equally serious.

That possibility has materialized.

The President has a new decision to make.

The Republican nominating convention may have a new decision to make, too.

All bets are off in presidential politics for 1956.

Not the Mailman's Best Friend

There isn't a dog owner in the United States who doesn't know why mailmen have trouble with dogs as they pursue their appointed rounds —the mailmen, that is. Dogs pursue only mailmen

The gentlest and most complacent dog in the world can be thrown off poise by the sight of a human being carrying a strange object like a mail pouch.

A dog's own master who appears suddenly with a package in his arms, or carrying something on his back can cause consternation on the part of his pet.

Like human beings, dogs are likely to try to destroy what they do not understand — and millions of dogs do not understand men who show up day after day with mail pouches. When they do understand them, on the other hand, they frequently tag along with mailmen and become their pals.

One easy solution might be worth looking into by the National Assn. of Letter Carriers, which is trying to protect its members from unfriendly dogs.

Since dogs do not see very well anyway and can be fooled pretty easily, mail pouches could be camouflaged as boxes of dog biscuit. This would require nothing but a sign reading: Dog Biscuits. An occasional biscuit would strengthen the illusion that the ominous man with a pouch on his back had become a dependable source of supply.

Contrary to a popular idea, dogs do not bite the hands that feed them. That is a form of ingratitude peculiar to people.

The Flawless Stooge

They say V. M. Molotov, most durable of the original crowd of counter-revolutionists headed by Stalin, was a perfect man for his job, which was to carry out the dictator's orders governing the Soviet Union's international relations.

Since he managed to save his neck longer than Stalin saved his own, Molotov must have had something extraordinary in his favor. He must have been the 20th century's greatest yes-man. For him, there seems to have been nothing too large or too small for him to swallow gracefully on a moment's notice.

Your ordinary yes-man sooner or later queers himself by betraying some inner misgiving about being a mental satellite He rubs someone's fur the wrong way, steps on an official corn, or makes the mistake of wagging his tail more agreeably in the presence of one of his masters than another

This plants the suspicion he is a yes-man capable of turning into a no-man and causes him to live under the shadow of a doubt. This must never have happened to Molotov, who grew old gracefully in the most precarious environment in the world.

The graveyards of Russia are full of men whose only offense was to arouse the suspicion of Stalin—men who had some unquenched spark of spirit, some glow of self-respect that betrayed them. But not V. M. Molotov, the flawless stooge.

Target Practice

The Commerce Department sees a money shortage shaping up. Which just proves once again how far the people are ahead of their government.

—:—

An old-timer used to be one who remembered when the built-up area was all open country; now he's the fellow who remembers when the open parking lots were all solid buildings.

Modern Medicine

By David Lawrence

President's Ailment Dramatizes the Routine

Modern medical science has just given the world a dramatic exhibition of why the life span of man is increasing. For now the physicians who performed a surgical operation on President Eisenhower last week pronounce him as likely to be in better health than he was before.

Lawrence

What would have been an nonpublicized, almost routine case of surgery became for all the people of the country to read an example of how nowadays the removal of an obstruction in the intestinal tract actually protects the individual against what might be a serious danger to him in the future.

-:-

ALREADY THE widespread knowledge disseminated about the President's bout with thrombosis last autumn has changed the attitude of millions of people who used to think a heart attack meant that a person became an invalid the rest of his life. Now they know that under proper care in most cases a normal life can be lived.

Naturally because in recent months the question of whether after an illness a President may or may not serve out his term has aroused nationwide discussion, any indisposition on the part of the man in the White House attracts sensational attention.

Had it been anybody else, even a member of Congress, such a case of intestinal trouble would probably not have been recorded in the press at all and the question of whether any future incapacity was involved would hardly have been asked.

Many public men have undergone surgery in recent years without impairing their usefulness in the political arena. Adlai Stevenson has had two operations,— one for kidney stones and latter for gallstones.

-:-

HARRY TRUMAN has had a gall bladder operation and removal of an infected appendix. Governor Harriman of New York was in the hospital a few weeks ago for an operation on the prostate gland. Nobody today assumes that for these three men the tenure of their political lives has in any way been shortened by their hospital experiences.

What happened to President Eisenhower last week gave a significant demonstration of how meticulously careful the President's physicians are in watching over his health.

It confirms something the President himself said when he announced that he would run again, namely that he probably would be better taken care of because he was in the White House than he might be if he were in private life.

Whenever illness, however slight, occurs, the President's faithful and able physician in constant attendance — Dr. Howard McC. Snyder — can summon in a matter of hours the very best doctors and specialists on any particular phase of medical practice.

THERE ALSO IS A frankness and openness about the way things are handled at the White House when anything of a medical nature arises. This reassures the public.

The fact that the President had experienced a stomach upset was announced first thing Friday morning. By afternoon he was at the wonderful medical center which Congress has provided at Walter Reed Hospital, primarily military personnel but it can be used also by public officials generally.

By midafternoon of Friday, Dr. Snyder who knew that the President had been troubled off and on since 1949 with an irritation in the intestinal tract began considering the need for an operation. He couldn't be sure that it was advisable.

There were other measures which could be taken temporarily to relieve the pain. But X-rays were made periodically and by two o'clock Saturday morning it was evident that the summoning of all the specialists had been a wise move. When they decided to operate at 3 a.m., the operating room and staff had been ready for hours for just such a decision.

ANYBODY ELSE would have undergone the same routine at a hospital but, because it was the President of the United States, the headlines and the radio broadcast every single medical detail as soon as the operation was over.

This correspondent followed the bulletins throughout Friday night and into the daylight hours of Saturday and was impressed by the promptness and comprehensiveness of the information furnished by the President's secretary, James Hagerty. He made every scrap of information instantly available.

It certainly instills confidence that the American people in the future will continue to be given under this administration every essential fact about the President's health. It wasn't that way unfortunately under the Wilson or the Roosevelt administrations.

WHAT 'EFFECT ON the presidential contest of 1956 will all of this have? No more than it has before. The Democrats will hesitate to make the President's health a real issue though they may nibble at it. Such tactics, however, can boomerang on them.

When the American people soon see Ike by television moving around again on the golf course and on his trips to Gettysburg and back, they will forget about the stomach upset of last week even as so many already have decided that a man with a history of a heart attack can live on for years thereafter.

The Gallup polls taken since last autumn show that a majority of the people will vote for Ike irrespective of his past illnesses. They apparently want him at the helm as long as they can have him for, to an extraordinary degree, he has won their esteem and their affection.

In the Market for Space Ships

By HARRY LEVER

The Air Force would like to see the handiwork of anybody who has tried his hand at designing a space ship.

The examining agency, according to information here, is the Air Research and Development Command (ARDC) an outfit always interested in any new ideas in aircraft design such as space ships, missiles or other meteor-dodging aerial vehicles.

ARDC primarily is looking for clues which might lead to dramatic strides in development.

While it can count on steady progress and improvement in weapons and equipment, an ARDC officer pointed out that the Air Force "also needs to receive and test all types of revolutionary ideas."

He explained that hidden among hundreds of ideas may come one which leads to a technological break-through, like space-ship travel.

Generally speaking, scientifically trained people are the target. And if one of them feels he has something good, all he has to do is contact ARDC's innovations division in Washington.

In a little more than the past year, it was explained, more than 700 unusual ideas have been received and all of them were thoroughly evaluated.

A few of the ideas, naturally, were outright wild, products of daydreamers—maybe with tongue in cheek. But by and large, the vast portion of ideas received are based on sound scientific principles or show an imaginative scientific flair. It is often from these that are culled the bases for new technological advances.

ARDC also pointed out that educational institutions, small businesses and especially trained persons, all of whom are not on the air force payroll, have submitted proposals

Almost all work of a scientific or technological nature is touched upon, so wide is the scope of ARDC's activity. Accordingly, the area open for contributions is unlimited.

So everybody can join the team and fulfill that inventive yen to design a space ship or may be a self-locking safety pin. If you've got it, the innovations division would like to see it.

There hasn't been a word said about perpetual motion gadgets, however.

Weapons That Won the War

By David Barnett

Think American brains and originality won the war?

Think again, says Rep. Thurmond Chatham (D-NC). The United States, he contends, did not originate a single one of the main weapons that brought victory.

And he has personal remembrances of chats with military leaders and a list to back up his opinion.

Foreign scientists, says the congressman, thought up the "main tools of victory, which were later developed by American ingenuity and know-how and used with such intelligence by soldiers, sailors and airmen."

—:—

THE CONGRESSMAN, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, was prompted by the foreign aid debate to recall details of private discussions he had had with the late James Forrestal, secretary of defense, and Lewis Strauss, now chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, just after the war.

Rep. Chatham is a supporter of foreign aid for our allies particularly because "practically the war was won by their discoveries."

According to the Congressman, he and Forrestal were long-time friends. When World War II started, he recalled, Forrestal brought Chatham into the bureau of ordnance of the Navy Department.

AT PRIVATE sessions, he said, "Lewis Strauss and I used to argue with Forrestal all the time — telling him the admirals were giving him incorrect information."

After the war, he related, there were long discussions at Chatham's home in Georgetown, which he had bought from Forrestal, of the weapons that won the war. The experts agreed that all of them had been the result of basic research done in Europe, he said.

Among these weapons, Rep. Chatham listed:

Radar, "which was invented by some British scientist who found that if you shot this beam out it came bouncing back."

The electric torpedo: "We had a bad experience the first part of the war in the Navy. Our torpedoes didn't explode." Then the British came through with an electric torpedo.

The 40-millimeter Bofors gun, the "great anti-aircraft weapon of the war," developed by the Swedes.

Torpex: A British explosive that "we adopted for torpedoes and bombs."

The proximity fuse: "It was brought here by a German-Jewish refugee." In 1942, recalled the congressman, "Somebody brought him to me and said he had a proximity fuse. I took him to the chief of the bureau of ordnance."

Degaussing: A British method of protecting ships from the German-developed magnetic mine.

Sonar: The British - discovered method of underwater detection of submarines.

Motor torpedo boats: An Italian development.

The atom bomb: Rep Chatham said the basic theoretical extension of Einstein's theory was worked out by Enrico Fermi, an Italian, and Nils Bohr, a Dane, and "brought to President Roosevelt by British Prime Minister Churchill."

The Congressman made it plain he had great praise for "our development and our productive capacity" but "I do not want you to ever believe that we have a patent on ingenuity and ideas."

He noted that the U.S. still was adapting British developments. He mentioned the "canted" deck on the aircraft carrier Forrestal and steam catapults used to launch aircraft as two such British imports.

Scientists, he admitted, had a legitimate beef when they complain that Congress is difficult to sell when asked for funds for basic research — research that has no foreseeable weapons development.

But, he said, the real problem is that the public has not been sold.

"Get public opinion behind basic research projects and Congress will go along," he said.

We're Always Right

By TRUMAN TWILL

No amount of somber hogwash can make me blink back a single tear about the competitive selling that lies ahead for salesmen.

It has been so long since salesmen saw things my way that they have ceased to be bosom pals and have become the party of the second part — the party that is everlastingly trying to take advantage of my good nature.

I love to be toadied to by people who have it in mind to exchange whatever they have to sell for my purchasing power. Even though most of the buying in our household is done by the lady thereof, it is my prerogative — I think — to be fussed over and greased up by all salesmen who come within range.

During the Great War, I resented their various ways of letting me know they thought I was doing them a favor when they permitted my dirty money to be exchanged for their hard - to - get merchandise.

If it is true, as they say, that the Great Depression rotten-spoiled customers into expecting more than it was possible to give them, the Great War rotten-spoiled salesmen into thinking they could give customers the back of a stiff neck and get away with it permanently.

They believed they were airborne or something, and it was no longer necessary for them to obey the first rule of salesmanship, which is to put yourself agreeably at the service of the customer until his needs have been taken care of, or until he voluntarily moves on to a happier hunting ground.

I personally could not sell hot toddies to Esquimaux for half price on a cold New Year's Eve, but I began to realize there were salesmen knocking down salaries and commissions for being as inept as I always figured I would be at their jobs.

Worse than that, people were posing as salesmen who could not have made the grade as back-row extras in mob scenes of super-colossal movie spectacles, where their only function would be to fill up space.

If the competitive selling that lies ahead does nothing but sharpen up salesmanship, it will be worth the perspiration. But it is going to do something more important.

It is going to bring back the self-respect of all of us who have been apologetic for our error-burdened existence. We are the slobs who ate too much, wanted too many conveniences, spent too much on trifles and didn't cooperate fully with the Big War.

We are the freaks who expected too much too quick when the war was over, bid up prices trying to get it, went into debt to pay for it and stood accused by every second - guesser in high authority of being both whimsical and greedy.

We are the knuckleheads who never have been bright about doing what the experts have figured out we should be doing. We do not run for the hills, dive into the swamps, mulch through the sloughs of despond, or aspire to climb new heights when the trained brains say we should.

We get rubber - legged like children, balky like mules, panicky like horses, arbitrary, wrong-headed, selfish and grasping. But the fact remains we are the customers and eventually we are always right.

Eventually is now. Come on, suckers, sell us something. Make us feel right.

Speeding to Death

DENVER (AP) — Speed was the No. 1 cause of accidents on Colorado highways in 1955. The State Highway Patrol's annual report showed speed caused accidents in which 125 persons died. The patrol said that of 14,087 hazardous violations issued against motorists, 3,620 or 25.6 per cent of the total, were speeding. Next to speeding, improper turning was the greatest cause of fatal accidents.

Fly in the Car

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A housefly cost James Hom $400 The fly got into Hom's car and distracted his attention from driving Police said the car ran off the road and hit a street sign and a small building. Damage to Hom's sedan—$400.

Family Operation

McCOOK, Neb. (AP)—Within a period of a few months Diane Remington, a kindergartener, her sister Connie, a second-grader, and their father, Doran, underwent appendectomies. A couple of years ago their mother had her appendix removed.

Considerate Thief

NOGALES, Mexico (AP)—Hugo W. Miller reported that even the pickpockets were in a good mood during a festival at this town on the U. S. border. A thief stole his wallet, but, reported Miller "The pickpocket was considerate. He even buttoned my pocket again after lifting my purse."

Search for Baddy Stalin

We have been conducting a search for the ghost of Joe Stalin, and our tape recordings follow:

Q.—"Are you there, Josef Stalin?"

A.—I thought I was Joe Stalin, but from all those allegations by my pals I could be Atilla the Hun.

Q.—How can we be sure you are either? . . . Is it not possible you are Herod?

A.—We'll both have to wait for the next edition of Pravda to find out.

Q. —Are we still in contact? . . . You seem to be fading out.

A.—If you were getting the slamming around I am getting — and from my closest pals — you would be fading out, too. . . . Could I ask you something? . . . How do you explain that I have not been charged with killing Cock Robin and masterminding the Brink's Robbery?

Q.—That can be forthcoming any moment. . . . Have you any message for Comrad Khrushchev?

A.—Yes, but it's too hot to handle through spiritualism.

Q.—I have an impression we are losing contact. . . . Are you still there, Joe Stalin, alias Nero, alias Atilla?

A.—I am now in a different pre-existence. . . . I seem to be somebody called Homicidy Murphy. . . . Things are awfully mixed up.

Q.—This is the Inside Search for Offside Joe. . . . Is Bridey anywhere around?

A.—She's here but scared stiff. . . . She thinks she may be down-graded, too, and identified as Lucretia Borgia. Anything can happen to the dead.

-:-

Q.—HAVE YOU any word for Bulganin and Malenkov?

A.—I would like to have them sing me a request number, "Dear Old Pal of Mine," and follow it up with the friendship number from the opera "Hit Him Again; The Casket's Sealed."

Q.—Hello! . . . Hello! . . . Are you still in contact? . . . All I get is a terrific crackling sound

A.—That's me burning up. Tito and my old buddies just walked past my tomb and gave me the grand snub. . . You'd think I was Bridey Karloff

Q.—Are you planning to show your resentment? . . . Are you any good at haunting houses?

A.—If I ain't it won't be because I don't know the right Soviet addresses.

Q.—Listen, Joey, are your buddies mistaken?

A.—There's a mixup somewhere I might stand being called Nero, but there's something screwy in the picture of my buddies as Little Lord Fauntleroy, Baby Snooks and the Lamb that Followed Mary to School. (Contact was definitely lost at this point. All we got was a spinning sound.)

When millions of dollars are tossed away in jackpot and boxtop programs by top industries, wouldn't you think some of the industrialists would manage to contribute a little something to big the fund to run down persons responsible for blinding Victor Riesel because of his fearless fight in industry's cause? . . . Only $45,000 has been raised for the reward in over two months, and not a dime has come in from any corporation except those closely involved . . . When you see characters at quiz shows getting $20,000 to $100,000 for identifing old movies, recognizing a song or remembering who managed the Dodgers in 1932, and see a sightless crusader dependent on peanut-money in the hunt for the guilty, it makes you boil.

Three horsetrack men were given total sentences of 65 years in prison for robbing banks. . . . That's one daily double they hadn't calculated on.

About all that's left for Estes Kefauver to do now is to try to remember where the U.S. Senate Chamber is located.

Gillespie-Ruhl Nuptial Vows Repeated Here

Miss Joy L. Gillespie became the bride of Donald Wayne Ruhl in a candlelight ceremony read Saturday evening, June 2, in Emanuel Lutheran Church. The service was at 8:30 o'clock with the pastor, Rev. M. E. Hollensen officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Gillespie of Salamanca, N. Y. and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Soward of 218 Bain Ave. and James Ruhl of Cardington.

White gladioli and stock were in the altar vases and palms formed the background for the lighted tapers in the sanctuary. Family pews were marked with white satin ribbon bows and salal. The wedding music was by Mrs. William Ackerman.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Melvin Radel, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace styled with a v-neckline outlined with iridescent sequins, and bouffant skirt of nylon net and alternate panels of lace. The long sleeves extended to points over the hands. Her veil of bridal illusion was fingertip length and fell from a cap trimmed with pearls. Her bouquet of champagne roses showered with picotee ribbon was carried on a white Bible. Her pearl necklace was a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Lee Wanna Waters, who was the maid of honor and the bride's only attendant, wore a gown of blue nylon net fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt of tiers of tiny ruffles over tulle. Her bandeau matched her gown and she carried white carnations on a fan fashioned of salal.

Gary Louderback was best man for the bridegroom and seating the guests were Verne Bloomfield and Jack Long.

The bride's mother chose a dress in a gray shade with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Soward chose a black and white costume and wore black accessories. Her flowers were yellow roses in a corsage.

The reception for 75 guests was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Soward where the assisting hostesses were Miss Carol Gillespie, Mrs. Frank Jessie, Miss Becky Ruhl and Mrs. Carol Long. The stairway was garlanded with salal and centering the table was a tiered wedding cake surrounded with fern, white stock and gypsophila.

COLUMBIA PICTURES presents "NEW ORLEANS UNCENSORED" starring ARTHUR FRANZ • BEVERLY GARLAND

Labor's Reappraisal

By Victor Riesel

There is a bloc of Democratic labor chiefs who, though they are realists, now believe they can defeat President Eisenhower next fall — or cut so heavily into his vote that they can capture Congress easily.

VICTOR RIESEL

This political optimism springs out of pessimism over the country's pocketbooks this summer.

The labor men believe there's a vacation-time depression just around the corner.

—:—

THEY SEE THIS silencing of our roaring lush times destroying the nation's belief in the "perpetual prosperity" of the Eisenhower administration. They plan to pin the recession on Ike's policies—and they believe they can cut sharply into his personal popularity.

Their gloomy outlook on economic conditions, which they expect will give the big cities the summertime blues, is based on news from Detroit. At the last official count there were upwards of 148,000 jobless in the automobile industry—most of them in the Motor City.

Actually, they say, there are now closer to 200,000 or more unemployed, laid-off temporarily or working on a short week. The labor leaders see this seriously affecting the steel industry which is piling up warehouses with inventories of many types of steel.

IF THINGS GO SOFT for a while in the steel industry, there will be tougher bargaining between Big Steel and Big Steel Labor. Some of the union chiefs at the AFL-CIO high command sessions in Washington were talking of a possible full scale steel strike. One source said such a walkout might even run for six weeks.

Such a stoppage of the steel mills, if it comes, won't start until Aug. 1, for you can expect a 30-day extension of the wage contract from July 1 to Aug. 1. A six week strike would carry the struggle right into the presidential campaign.

There could be as many as 650,000 men out. Just what effect this would have on the election no one can now tell.

One thing is certain—President Eisenhower is not intervening now, has no intention of moving in or permitting the White House to get into the steel act and does not plan to move even if there should be a strike.

I recall that the first question I put to him in his first press conference after he returned from Paris was his attitude on a steel strike back there in 1952. Eisenhower replied that if he were president, he'd remain neutral and let both sides work out their problems. He's doing just that.

So the labor men believe that the strikers—not getting any help from the White House as they have in past administrations when FDR and HST were jokingly referred to in labor circles as "mighty good business agents"—might vote against Ike.

The auto and steel workers make a powerful political bloc right across the country in a score of industrial cities.

The labor politicos have only recently begun thinking in these terms. For up to the past few weeks, they did not believe there'd be either a recession or a strike. In all fairness, it should be pointed out that neither management nor labor wants these two horsemen of the Apocalypse racing towards us.

BUT POLITICS IS politics and the strategists of the Democratic labor bloc will be blaming the Republicans for this. Their earlier political pessimism has been changed to optimism by their economic pessimism. As a result, they plan to get into the campaign a lot more deeply than they had originally intended.

There seems to be no doubt now, as there was a few weeks ago, that the AFL-CIO will run its special convention of some 140 national union presidents. Over last weekend, AFL-CIO staff members were telephoning hotels in Atlantic City and Chicago seeking enough rooms for such a gathering. Their plans now call for a special convention late in September which would be authorized to endorse a presidential candidate.

A few weeks ago nobody really cared who would get the Democratic nomination. Today the labor men, with the tough realism of the country's shrewdest bargainers, are re-examining the entries in the big race.

SOME OF THEM ARE still for Gov. Averell Harriman. Sen. Stuart Symington is coming up fast on the outside. But the laborite attitude towards Adlai Stevenson has changed sharply in the past week.

They still think Stevenson is a little too cold and intellectually snobbish for them but they were surprised and much impressed to see their 1952 candidate win in labor districts in the Florida and California primaries.

So they're prepared to campaign for him, too, if necessary, although not too many weeks ago they were threatening to take a walk and sit on their hands, which is politically if not physically possible.

Old Style Father

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Are you the boss in your family, mister?

If you are, you are an unusual husband and father. It is getting harder and harder in our times for a man to act the role of the family boss. The former lord of the manor has become something of a mouse in his own house.

HAL BOYLE

Some psychologists say it is a good thing that father is no longer the final boss. They believe the modern family doesn't need a boss, that authority and responsibility can be shared.

—:—

MAYBE SO, but I doubt it. You can't run a railroad or any other business without a boss, and I suspect the same thing is true of a family. A family, of course, isn't a business—but it has to be a going concern, and it needs someone at the head of it who, in a crisis, can make a final decision to which the others agree.

It is fashionable in literature now to picture the old-fashioned father as a tyrant who often inflicted his will on his family in a selfish manner, who ruled by fear more than by love.

But is this portrait true? I suspect it to be false. I believe that most old-fashioned fathers held their authority because their children both loved and respected them.

—:—

THE TROUBLE WITH the modern father is that he often is either too spineless or lazy to assume the proud family role nature intended him to take. No wonder his children treat him like a harmless middle-aged fossil. That's what he is.

I had an old-fashioned father. He and my mother married young, and had five children. While Mama ran the house, there was never any doubt about who was the final boss—it was Dad.

I can still remember how on a summer night we children used to urge hoptoads to hop-race across the street under the lamplight, worrying that if we touched them our fingers would break out in warts.

Promptly at 9 o'clock Dad would take his feet off the front porch bannister and stand up—the tallest tower of my lifetime—and beat his palms together like thunderclaps.

WHAP! WHAP! Whap! there was no missing his bedtime summons. It could be heard for two blocks. Dogs and children might growl or grumble, but they all headed for home and slumber.

My wife and I have only one child, Tracy Ann, who will be three this month. For some reason, while Tracy is very fond of me, I have no more authority over her than a piece of wet string.

I can't convince her she is too young to be a night owl.

One night recently, trying to reconcile her to the idea that bed was sweet and life would last until tomorrow, I told Tracy Ann about my father. I told her how in the long ago, on summer nights, he would stand there straight and tall on the old wooden porch and beat his echoing palms together and summon his scattered tribe to the shelter of his roof.

"Like this?" asked Tracy. She beat her two small hands together—"Pat! Pat! Pat!"—then said imperiously:

"Come to bed, Daddy. Right now."

Well, sir, believe it or not, I went to bed.

What this country needs is more old-fashioned daughters who, when they say something to their parents, really mean it.

Or am I getting mixed up?

Crops Starting Very Slowly, Report Claims

Adverse Weather Is Cited; June 1 Outlook Is Poorest Since 1945

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers faced the possibility of reduced crops this year unless they get more rain and the weather warms up soon.

In its monthly crop report late Monday, the Agriculture Department said prospects on June 1 were the lowest since 1945. Production that year was about 12 per cent below last year's near record volume.

Drought Cited

A combination of drought conditions in many areas and unusually cool growing weather contributed to the adverse outlook.

Any sizable reduction in production—especially of cotton, corn, other feed grains, tobacco and rice—would help relieve present surplus problems. Prices could be expected to increase.

The department emphasized, however, that it is too early to forecast the possible size of crops, explaining that favorable changes in the weather would improve the picture.

Wheat Down 2 Per Cent

The wheat crop—the only major one for which a production estimate was given—was put at 923 million bushels. This is 2 per cent less than last year's production and 20 per cent below the 10-year average. While this would be the smallest crop since 1943, there would be no shortage. Reserve and surplus supplies on hand amount to nearly 1,100,000,000 bushels.

The report said needed rains in May brightened the future somewhat for large acreages of corn, cotton, soybeans, sorghums and other crops just getting a start.

However, many sections still had insufficient rain and badly needed more soil moisture, the report said.

July 4 Programs Slated at Prospect

Plans for a July 4 celebration at Prospect were discussed Monday night at a meeting of the Prospect Community Youth Committee.

Also discussed were arrangements for weekly street dances to be held throughout the summer months. Proceeds from the dances will be used to purchase recreational equipment and facilities for the village's youths.

Planning for the annual holiday celebration calls for a tag sale to be held to help cover expenses. The celebration, scheduled at Prospect Community Park for the fourth straight year, will include various concessions and contests, games, a band concert and a fireworks display at night. Prizes will be awarded during the afternoon program. Ice cream and other refreshments will be offered for sale.

The youth committee is composed of Prospect residents interested in providing additional recreational programs for the youth of the village.

Miami Graduates Hear Deputy Chief of Defense

By The Associated Press

Reuben B. Robertson Jr., deputy secretary of defense, told a commencement day audience at Miami University Monday the United States "is taking second place to no nation" in development of guided missiles and missile systems.

America still leads in "total defense and deterrent power," Robertson said. This country is keeping up in the technological race, and budgets now include "enormous sums for guided missiles," he declared.

Oberlin College, the University of Akron, John Carroll University and Lake Erie College also were among those holding commencement exercises Monday.

Justice Speaks

John M. Harlan, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, told the 380 graduates at Oberlin:

"You are graduating into a period of unrivaled challenge and opportunity in our history, for it is by your generation that the great problems which have followed in the wake of World War II, and the catapulting of our nation into the leadership of the free world, will be solved."

The 418 Akron graduates were told by Dr. David D. Henry, president of the University of Illinois, they were graduating at a time when the whole world acknowledges its need for brain power.

"Every profession, every specialized occupation is in short supply," he said.

Canadian Gives Address

The heritage of learning can be a battlement against Communism as strong as any built by man, Paul Martin, Canadian minister of national health and welfare, told the 280 graduates at John Carroll.

Discussing relations between this country and Canada, he said development of a humane and neighborly social structure "is one of our answers to Communism."

Dr. Carl F. Wittke, head of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at Western Reserve University, told the 45 graduating seniors at Lake Erie College that freedom of the mind from ignorance, intolerance and superstition is essential to the survival of a democratic state.

"If our democracy ever fails," he said, "it will not be because of an enemy at the gates, but because of the loss of freedom of thought."

Muskingum College awarded an honorary degree to B. N. MacGregor of Warren, a General Motors official, and four others.

City Transfers Funds For New Sewer Charge

Two ordinances to make additional appropriations and transfer funds—one of them to provide for administration of the city's new sewer service charge—were unanimously adopted Monday night by City Council.

Along with the provision of funds for administering the service charge, council also adopted another ordinance creating positions for two clerks in the sewer service department.

—:—

THE ORDINANCE to provide funds for the department was based on a certification of the county auditor that funds collected from the charge would be available for operation of the sewer service department and the sewage treatment plant.

Total amount set aside for these two purposes from the anticipated income from the charge was $39,599. Of this amount the larger share, $29,885, was for operation of the sewage treatment plant.

The balance of $9,714 was for the sewer service department with $2,400 set up for clerk pay, $1,000 for printing and supplies, $400 for incidentals, $3,500 for equipment, $200 for refunds and $2,214 for contract billing.

Mr. Haldeman pointed out that the service charge becomes effective July 1 and the first billing will be made in August.

He said in answer to a question from Mr. Osterholt that it is for this reason that it is necessary to pass legislation now to set up machinery for collecting the charge.

The ordinance establishing the clerks' positions also set their salaries. It is to be $200 a month for the first six months, $215 for the second six months and $230 a month thereafter.

—:—

THE OTHER ordinance making additional appropriations for the year was mostly of a routine nature and a procedure followed each year.

But one exception was the transfer of some $41,702 from the contingent fund (set up by council to cover the cost of the sewer survey now under way) back into various other funds. The contingent fund was set up in first-of-the-year appropriations by reducing the appropriations to such funds as prisoners' subsistence, city's share of the public employes retirement system funds and so on.

The action was taken by council to provide sufficient funds to cover the $44,600 cost of an engineering sewer survey of the city by Floyd G. Browne and Associates.

But the ordinance also called for establishing of a special fund of $44,600 to pay for the engineering service charges for the survey. The money for this special fund is to be provided from the anticipated income from the service charge.

Purse Snatcher Sought by Police

A man netted approximately $8 in a purse snatching incident Monday night, city police reported today.

Mrs. C. W. Ullmer of 321 N. Prospect St. told police the purse was pulled from her left hand by the man as she stood talking with three women companions on S. Prospect St. at 9:53 p.m.

The women had just come out of church, Mrs. Ullmer told police, when the man grabbed her purse and ran north on Prospect St. to an alley beside Emanuel Lutheran Church and then west up the alley. The purse, empty, was discovered this morning on Chase St. by a patrolman.

Alexander

Mills, county superintendent, said today.

Alexander returned to New Bloomington for the last school year after spending a year teaching in Greece as a Fulbright exchange teacher.

Other business during Monday's meeting included a lengthy discussion of a name for the recently-merged Morral, Meeker and Grand Prairie school districts.

"Ridgedale" was the name submitted for the new school district.

Mr. Mills points out that the name can yet be changed or the spelling altered but says it was the choice of the boards of the three districts.

The county board also appointed the five members of the new district's school board from the list of candidates submitted by the three independent districts. They were: Eldon Beers, Grand Prairie; Don Williams, Morral; Don Mattix, Meeker; Richard Kennedy, Big Island; and W. G. Lyon, Grand Prairie. The latter two men were chosen "at large," so to speak, on a geographical basis.

The new board, which will serve until the next general election — the fall of 1957, will meet at some future undesignated time with Mr. Mills to set up organizational plans.

It was also reported that C. D. Pilkington, superintendent of the Caledonia School, has resigned to take over as head of the Howard School in Knox County. Robert O. McFarlan, superintendent of the Morral School has also resigned to take a teaching position in the Prospect School. Superintendents for the Caledonia and Morral schools are yet to be chosen.

Following Mr. Ghalib's talk, Rex G. Kilbourn installed the group's officers for next year as follows: Russell Butterworth, president; H. Ray Kozad, vice president; Harry Carey secretary - treasurer; James Harmon, trustee to the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers; Homer Bates, Mount Gilead, trustee to the Marion chapter; and Harry Rapp, Delaware, also a trustee to the local chapter.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

A three-year-old Marion boy was injured in one of four traffic accidents investigated Monday by Marion police.

Injured in a mishap in the 200 block on Lincoln Ave. at 6:55 p.m. was Allen Williams of 174 Lincoln Ave. who suffered a small bruise on his right leg.

According to police, Allen was riding a tricycle on the sidewalk and was struck by a car driven by Francis G. Smith, 48, of 208 Lincoln Ave. as he was backing out of a driveway.

The boy required no medical treatment for his injury.

One car was damaged in a two-vehicle accident in the 300 block on E. Fairground St. at 7:52 a.m. Police reported a car driven by Effort Lee Woods, 16, of near Marion hit a truck operated by William D. Phillips, 36, of Lima which was eastbound on Fairground and preparing to make a left turn.

Each of the other two accidents caused less than $100 total damage, police estimated.

Drivers Escape Injury

No injuries were suffered in a two-car collision at 5:25 p.m. Monday investigated by the county sheriff's office.

The mishap occurred on Route 23, six miles north of Marion when Arthur E. Jolly, 19, near Morral, traveling north, slowed down to make a left turn into a roadside park and was struck by another northbound auto driven by Floyd J. Cudnohufsky, 26, of New York.

Cudnohufsky told sheriff's deputies that he failed to notice Jolly's car slowing down in time to avoid the collision. The Jolly vehicle was towed from the scene, according to the report.

Foreign Relations Committee which will begin voting Wednesday on items in the authorization bill.

Russell (D-Ga) said he is thinking about trying to divert the whole $3,800,000,000 foreign aid authorization to the Air Force. He said this could be accomplished by an amendment to the House-passed bill.

That amount was exactly what Gen. Curtis LeMay asked Monday as an increase in spending authority for the next fiscal year, starting July 1, to step up production of all-jet B52 intercontinental bombers. Appearing before the Senate Appropriations Committee, LeMay proposed the $3,800,000,000 a year increase for each of the next four or five years. LeMay is chief of the Strategic Air Command—this country's retaliatory striking force.

gency surgery to correct an intestinal block.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Adams would visit the President after an 8:30 a. m. meeting of White House officials with Senate Democratic and Republican leaders and top members of the Sedate's Foreign Relations, Armed Services and Appropriations committees.

The meeting was called in an administration move to restore the $1,100,000,000 cut voted Monday by the House in the $4,900,000,000 foreign aid authorization recommended by Eisenhower.

Walks Again

A hospital bulletin Monday night said Eisenhower "again requested permission to get out of bed and try out his legs."

The doctors added:

"With very little support he walked 20 feet to an easy chair where he sat for 15 minutes before he returned to bed."

He also walked back to bed, which meant he covered a total of 80 feet. He made a similar trip of 20 feet each way during the morning.

Adams spent 10 minutes with the President in his hospital room Monday. It was Eisenhower's first "working" session since the operation, and the brevity of it underscored that he still must take it easy.

The doctors have estimated Eisenhower will be in the hospital until about June 24. They also have said it would be four to six weeks from last Saturday before he would be in shape to resume his full duties at the White House.

5. He shall prepare bulletins, graphs and other important data concerning the school routine to be carried home by the pupils.

6. He shall keep in constant contact with the local press and radio as to the most pertinent methods of keeping the populace informed as to what the schools are attempting to accomplish.

7. He shall make necessary reports to the superintendent and the board of education.

The elementary superintendent will be directly responsible to the director of instruction, Cecil Gabler. "She will assist in coordinating all areas of the elementary school curriculum such as the fundamentals, art, music and physical education.

She also will organize and plan a detailed room visitation routine which will furnish the basis for a sound and thorough supervisory program at all levels of the elementary school.

She is to designate the areas in which specific in-service training is necessary and assist Mr. Gabler in arranging for that training. She will assist in the final selection of textbooks and instructional material on her level.

In approving the new positions and promotions the board members noted that the two new posts are supported by the new school foundation program which goes into effect Oct. 1.

Mr. Brown said the addition of Mr. Fogt and Miss Gregg will be the final addition in the administration end of the school office.

Mr. Fogt who lives at 644 Girard Ave. has been in the Marion Schools since 1947. He taught mathematics at the old Central School until 1951 when he was named principal at Taft, with the exception of the 1950-51 school year when he was director of pupil personnel.

Miss Gregg has been in the school system here since 1920 and has been principal at George Washington since 1952. Before that she taught elementary and junior high school grades. She was history and literature instructor in the junior high schools. She makes her home at 586 Delaware Ave.

Mr. Shank has been here since 1954. His first year in the system he was a mathematics teacher at Eber Baker Junior High School. Last year he was named principal at Oakland and Olney Schools. He is a former superintendent of the Galion City Schools. He now lives at 313 Marion Ave.

MR. WHITEHEAD came to Marion in 1947 and has spent his entire time here as physical education and health instructor and athletic coach at Edison Junior High School. The new principal at Oakland and Olney schools lives at 784 Oak Grove Ave.

Mr. Anderson, who was named principal at George Washington, began his teaching career at the Oakland School from 1926 to 1928. From 1928 to '30 he was a coach at Morral. Between 1930 and '34 he was an elementary principal in Lorain County and from 1934 to 1945 was executive head of the Morral School. For one year, the 1946-47 school year, he was a mathematics and science teacher at Edison Junior High School, then took the post of executive head of Prospect School.

In 1953 he returned to Marion to take the position of a teacher of mathematics and citizenship at Taft. He lives near Cardington.

The board Monday night also passed nine other proposals affecting school operations and personnel. Resignations of 25 teachers were accepted. Four new instructors were hired and new contracts were given to 119 teachers now on the staff. Two continuing contracts were awarded, one to Ray J. Silver and the other to Ortola Thomas.

Also employed for the coming school year were 15 office secretaries, 23 custodians, seven maintenance men, 43 lunchroom employes, 16 cleaning assistants, one substitute cleaning assistant, a school nurse and doctor.

The board employed the local architectural firm of Burris and Edwards to furnish plans for the addition of an all-purpose room, a kitchen, two classrooms and additional restrooms to the Olney Ave. School.

James Burris of the firm was present at the meeting. He told the members a rough estimate of the project was about $40,000. The board specified that the money must come from the sale of the old Central School building, which brought $40,000.

Mr. Burris said the plans were about half-completed at this time and could be completed in time for a special meeting at 5 p.m. June 21. The firm is to receive a fee of six per cent of the cost of construction of the additions.

GEORGE LANE was authorized to attend the Midwest Band Directors' Workshop at Purdue University July 8 to 14 with expenses paid. Miss Vera Stull and Mrs. Margaret Smith were authorized to attend the Kent State University Secretaries' Workshop July 5 to 7 with expenses paid.

The city recreation commission was authorized to use the playground and restrooms at the Pearl St. School daily during the summer. The YMCA was granted permission to use the playground at Mark St., Silver St. and Edison Schools one morning each week as meeting places for their outposts.

The Greenwood EUB Church was granted permission to use four rooms at the Mark St. School from June 11 to June 25 from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. daily. The church is to pay janitorial fees and will be responsible for any damage to the building.

Joseph Whisler, pupil personnel director, was present at the meeting to give a report on his activities during the last year. He said that during the year 28 children were given home instruction because of inability to attend classes at school.

He related that six of them finished the school year in school while the other 22 completed their year at home.

In the special classes, he told the board, there were 11 in the sight saving class, 11 in the crippled children's class and 91 in the slow learners' classes.

Mr. Whisler also told the board that this year marked the lowest number of cases referred by his department to the Juvenile Court in th last three years.

He said attendance in school this year was high and the lowest period of attendance was in mid-winter when there was only 91 per cent of the children in class.

HE TOLD OF the issuance of work permits to children between 14 and 18. He said there were 236 part-time permits issued between July 1 last year and June 1 this year. Some 81 parttime permits were reissued because of change of jobs, he said, and 47 full time permits were issued and 41 reissued.

He said the present enrollment in the schools is 6,903 and said the forecast for the next school year is for an enrollment of 7,122. There will be rooms available next year, he said, but added that after that time there may be a shortage of space.

Teachers whose resignations were accepted Monday night were: JoAnn Borland, Olen Bryant, Bea Castle, June Demlow, Ila Felgar, Jean Gatchell, Rita Graham, Fleta Hankel, Carol Harriman, Dorothy Hollensen, Ola K. tor." He said this position also required considerable training and a raise should be considered. Mr. Haldeman said his committee was aware of Mr. Ruth's feeling on this matter and had planned to hold a meeting to discuss it but had not done so.

Mr. Ruth added that he felt the cost of upping the inspector's salary could be provided also by upping the charge made to contractors for engineering services and inspection provided on their projects by the city engineering department.

Emmett Osterholt asked if the city engineering department inspects all sewer connections made in the city. Mr. Ruth said not always, that the inspection is confined mainly to the large contract projects.

To Study Fee Hike

Mr. Haldeman said that a meeting would be held soon with Mr. Ruth to study the upping of fees for the services provided the contractors along with his request for upping the inspector's salary.

In the discussion on the ordinance proposing to raise the safety-service director's salary to $6,000 (it now is $5,200) Mayor Ireland said he understood that the salary was cut $400 last year by council because the safety-service director no longer had the responsibility of the city hospital.

By the same token, the safety-service director now is being given the added responsibility of administration of the city sewer service charge and therefore should be granted a salary raise to $6,000 a year, the mayor said.

"We all know Mr. Bigelow is doing an excellent job as safety-service director and I feel that he should be paid a higher salary," the mayor added.

Mr. Haldeman noted that his committee had previously recommended no change in the salary at this time.

George Steinman, a spectator, objected to any raise for the position and said the average citizen feels the salary is already too high.

Mayor Ireland said he understood that at a meeting of the finance committee last week that it was agreed that the salary should be upped to $6,000.

Mr. Haldeman said this was not his recollection. He said he had told the mayor at the meeting referred to that he would not consider a raise to more than $5,600. This would establish the salary at the same rate it was previous to the cut last year, he said.

A vote then was taken on a motion to refer it to the finance committee and the motion was passed 7-2. Voting against sending it to committee for more study were Harold Smith, First Ward and James Jenkins, Second Ward.

In his request for raises for police and firemen, Mr. Bigelow said that already a fireman and policeman had resigned to accept better paying jobs elsewhere and others are threatening to follow suit.

He said he felt council should consider granting raises to make their salaries adequate.

Mr. Haldeman said that his committee would consider any raises proposed by the administration but that it is up to the administration to make known to council its program for raises, employment of additional firemen or policemen and a method of providing additional funds to cover the added cost to the city.

He said his committee will not consider any further pay raises until the administration does announce its program.

LaRue Man Fined $25

Walter B. Mailey of LaRue was fined $25 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct today in Marion Municipal Court.

He was arrested at 12:16 a.m. today by city police following report of a prowler in the 200 block of Windsor St. According to police, Mailey was seen emerging from between two houses in that area.

Around City Council's Table

Marion City Council adopted 13 pieces of legislation, referred four to committees for study, ordered one ordinance previously tabled back for further consideration and discussed other items of business at its regular meeting Monday night at City Hall.

The meeting also was the first for Emmett Osterholt, named at the May 2 meeting to fill the vacancy created for Sixth Ward councilman by the resignation of Harold Fralich. Effective June 1, Mr. Fralich resigned his post because of the pressure of his private business which he said prevented him from devoting proper time to his council duties.

Okay Cruiser Purchase

An ordinance authorizing the advertisement of bids on purchase of five new police cruisers together with the trading in of five existing cruisers was adopted unanimously.

R. G. Haldeman, councilman-at-large and chairman of the finance committee, said that his committee had checked and found that the present cruisers were in bad shape, needed to be traded in and that the money is available for the purchase of the new cruisers.

Richard Lister, at-large, requested that in drawing up the specifications for the new cruisers, the safety-service director make them so as not to exclude bids from any low or medium priced car dealer. He said that he had received complaints that previously the specifications were so written as to exclude some dealers from bidding.

City Solicitor Riley Hall said that it would be possible for council to include the specifications in the ordinance authorizing the advertisement of bids but that this had not been done before and the legislation under consideration was not so written. This meant the safety-service director would draw up the necessary specifications, he said.

Mr. Lister said he wasn't interested in council listing the specifications in the legislation, only that he would like council to request the safety-service director to prepare them so as not to exclude any bidder on the basis of wheel base, engine brake-horsepower and so forth.

Emmett Osterholt, Sixth Ward, asked if it were necessary and economical to trade in the cruisers at this time. Council said it was and Harold Smith, First Ward, asked City Auditor Elmer Shaw whether the trading of the police cars each year had saved money in the long run. Mr. Shaw answered that on a mileage per unit basis, the city had saved money by this policy.

Order Zoning Study

An ordinance tabled at the May 28 meeting was ordered back before council for consideration by a unanimous voice vote. It was an ordinance calling for rezoning a lot at Davids and Bennett Sts. from residential to commercial zone.

City Solicitor Hall ruled that in order to bring it up for consideration council must first vote to bring it off the table then order that a notice be published for a public hearing on the issue. He said date of this public hearing could not be until 30 days after the first publication of the public notice in The Star.

John Corwin, Fifth Ward, said he would like to know how to ask that the city planning commission make a study of the zoning of the entire area in the vicinity of Davids and Bennett Sts. to determine if it all should be rezoned.

He got no immediate answer but near the close of the meeting R. G. Haldeman, president protem ruled that he and two other councilmen could request that legislation be prepared directing the planning commission to make the necessary study.

Traffic Light Shifted

An ordinance authorizing and directing the removal of a traffic light at N. Main and Fairview St. one-block further north to N. Main and Hecker St. and Copeland Ave. was adopted unanimously after lengthy discussion.

Walter W. Osmun of 846 N. Main St., speaking on behalf of the Emmanuel Baptist Church said the light was needed at N. Main and Fairview Sts. for the protection of parishioners crossing the street to church services Wednesday nights, Sundays and for special occasions.

He said that the only saving to the city if the light were taken down and moved would be the actual cost of the traffic light itself. The cost of labor and so on would be the same as though a new light were purchased for the new location, he said. He said the church had no objection to the proposed new installation but merely desired that the existing light at N. Main and Fairview be retained.

George Piacentino, representing the Buckeye Trailer Sales argued for installation of a light at Copeland Ave. and Hecker Sts. He said his client did not object to a light at Fairview St. but felt that a light at Copeland and Hecker Sts. definitely is needed.

Ralph Williams, streets and alleys committee chairman, pointed out that the light at its present location is used only on a part time basis and at the new location would be a full-time light. He said it was felt that this would still provide the protection for church people because traffic would be slowed down coming into the city on N. Main St. at the corporation line. He said his committee recommended that the light be moved.

There also was discussion on whether the light at the new location could be synchronized with a light one block south of Fairview Ave. so as to stop all traffic within the two block area and it was decided this would be possible. Council objected to having three traffic lights within the two-block span.

Richard Lister said he didn't feel the city should operate part-time lights and he felt the light should be moved to where it will be operated full time.

There was still more comments on the need for the light at both locations with the proponents for each location stating that it was needed to help prevent congestion and a hazard to pedestrians as well as vehicular traffic.

Order Street Repairs

Six pieces of legislation were for various proposed and completed street improvements.

One was to authorize Lester W. Firstenberger to improve Uhler Ave. with a sub-standard pavement at his own cost but according to the city engineer's specifications.

This resolution was first adopted unanimously but at the close of the meeting, Richard Lister, at-large, said that he wished to change hs vote on it.

President pro tem Haldeman ruled he could not do this but could ask that the matter be reconsidered. A motion to reconsider it was brought to a vote and lost 5-4 with Smith, Jenkins, Rinehart, Courtright and Haldeman voting not to reconsider.

Mr. Lister said that he objected to the city allowing a sub-standard street to be installed on authority of the city engineer and with the blessing of the city implied. He said the street would only become a maintenance problem and added that some residents already had called and asked the city why the street had not been oiled this year.

At the previous action of council adopting the resolution, Ralph Williams, streets and alleys committee chairman, said his committee had investigated the request and recommended that the improvement be allowed as proposed by Mr. Firstenberger.

The other street improvement legislation was more routine.

Included was the improvement of Oliver St. from Bennett St. to the south line of Lot 13854 Brentwood Addition with sanitary and storm water sewer.

Two others were for the improvement of Washington and Eisenhower Aves. from S. Vine St. to Seminole Ave. with curbs, gutters, sidewalks and pavements.

One was for levying of special assessments for a sidewalk on the east side of Catherine Ave. from Joseph St. to Klerx St. and a similar one was to levy special assessments for a sanitary and storm water sewer on Brentwood and Glenwood Drs.

Claim Approved

An ordinance authorizing the payment of a claim for $204 to Marion R. Barkley for damages caused by sanitary sewage backing up into his residence at 458 Blaine Ave. was adopted 7-2. Voting no were Mr. Osterholt and Mr. Lister. Mr. Osterholt objected because he said if council started paying claims for this type of damage, it would do nothing else but pay such claims. "Sewage backs up in my basement," he said.

Public Meeting Slated

A decision to hold a public meeting on a proposed city building code was tentatively reached after Richard Lister, chairman of the utilities committee, reported that legislation to adopt the code would soon be presented to council for consideration.

Harold Smith, a member of the committee, suggested that a public meeting be held prior to the time the legislation is presented to council. In this way it might be possible to work out any objections to the code so that it would not require so much debate in the council meeting.

Mr. Lister agreed that a public meeting called by the committee to hear arguments pro and con might be a wise move and indicated he would call the meeting soon.

Study Speed Limit

An ordinance proposing a 15 mile speed limit on McKinley Park Dr. between Delaware Ave. and S. Prospect St. was sent back to committee for further study on request of Solicitor Hall. He said he wished to confer with members of the city park board on the matter. The ordinance has appeared on the agenda a number of times but each time has been sent back to committee for more study.

Purchase Authorized

Also sent to committee for more study was an ordinance to authorize the safety-service director to advertise for bids and enter into a contract for the purchase of a new road maintainer and the trading in of an existing maintainer. Council members said they were not previously aware of the proposed purchase and Mr. Haldeman, president pro tem sent it to the streets and alleys committee for study.

Parking Ban Studied

The street and alley committee also received for more study an ordinance to prohibit long-time parking on the north side of E. George St. in front of Moore's Cleaners. Richard Lister said he felt this action would be unfair to residents of the area by taking away parking space. Emmett Osterholt said that if action is taken to provide parking for customers of one business place other businesses could ask for the same consideration.

Other Business

In other business, council:

Received a letter from Arthur Haas, general secretary of the YMCA, requesting action to provide more protection at High and E. Church Sts. for children crossing E. Church St. to the YMCA. He suggested that three parking meters just west of High St. on the south side of E. Church St. be removed and a safety patrol similar to the school safety patrols be set up at the corner. Removal of the meters would provide a place to let children out of cars and to pick them up later directly in front of the "Y" building, he said. Safety-Service Director Bigelow, also in a letter to council, indicated he agreed with the request. The matter was sent to the streets and alleys committee for study.

Received a letter from Safety-Service Director Bigelow in reference to the rental of hoods for parking meters. He said he felt none of the hoods should be rented out on a permanent basis except with the consent of council, that the charge for them should be upped from 25-cents to 50 cents a day, and that none should be rented out except on an emergency basis. The letter was read by Ralph Williams, chairman of the streets and alleys committee. No action was taken on it.

Referred to the finance and municipal service committees the question of whether or not a contract with the Marion Township Trustees for fire protection in the township should be renewed. The existing contract terminates later this month, Harold Smith, municipal services committee, chairman said.

Received a report from Herman Rinehart, sewer committee chairman, on a meeting held June 1 in the offices of Floyd G. Browne and Associates at which time the committee received a progress report on the sewer survey being prepared by the engineers. Mr. Rinehart noted that the topographical maps being prepared as a part of the survey by the Aero Service Corp. of Philadelphia are expected to be sent to the local engineers by Friday.

Heard a complaint voiced by Mr. Rinehart on behalf of N. State St. residents. He said they are not satisfied to wait until the sewer survey is completed to determine what is to be done to provide them with storm and sanitary sewers. City Engineer John V. Ruth pointed out that a sewer extended north from the existing sewer could only run a short distance before it would come up out of the ground. He suggested waiting until the survey is completed. But council asked that he prepare cost estimates for construction of as much of the sewer as possible.

Heard two other complaints from Mr. Rinehart relative to the Smith St. sewer project and the Davids St. curb and gutter project south of Bellefontaine Ave. He said both jobs were done by the Gist Contracting Co. and neither had been properly completed. City Engineer Ruth said the company had started Monday to finish up the Smith St. project and planned to complete the Davids St. project by replacing sidewalks removed, by the end of this week.

The invocation for the meeting was given by Rev. Clyde R. Wendell, pastor of Calvary EUB Church.

All councilmen were present for the meeting with the exception of president Don Quaintance. In his absence, R. G. Haldeman served as president pro tem.

Indians, Red Sox Split Day-Night Doubleheader

Brewer Handcuffs Tribe 4-1 After Cleveland Wins

BOSTON (AP)—The Cleveland Indians played the Boston Red Sox in a day-night doubleheader Monday and ended up right where they started—three and a half games behind the idle New York Yankees in the American League standings.

The Indians made all their hits count in the first game, getting four runs on four hits to take a 4-1 decision. Three of the hits were home runs by Al Smith, Al Rosen and Chicago Carrasquel. The other was a double by Bob Avila.

Brewer Wins Seventh

Tom Brewer won his seventh straight decision over the Indians—four last year and three this season—as Boston took the night game, 5-1. The victory was the ninth of the season against one defeat for the 24-year-old right-hander.

Brewer gave up a run on a walk and singles by Rocky Colavito and Jim Busby in the second inning. A double by Vic Wartz off Ted Williams' glove in the fourth inning was the only other hit Cleveland got off Brewer.

Jackie Jensen's homer touched off a 10-hit Boston attack in the nightcap. All five runs were scored against Mike Garcia, who was relieved in the fifth inning by Bob Feller. Garcia now has a 4-6 record.

Feller came in with two men on base and retired the last two batters in the fifth. He then pitched three scoreless innings, allowing three hits.

Narleski Helps McLish

Cal McLish, who got the starting assignment for the Tribe in the day game after Art Houtteman's sore shoulder continued to bother him, won his second game against two defeats. But he had to have help from Ray Narleski.

Narleski, summoned with the bases loaded in the sixth, retired the side by striking out catcher Pete Daley and then held the Red Sox to one hit in the last three frames.

Early Wynn (6-2) will oppose big Frank Sullivan (4-3) in tonight's game. Wynn's last effort was a 9-0 shutout against the Yankees in New York last Friday night.

The Indians play Boston Wednesday and Thursday, then head for home, opening a three-game series against New York Friday night.

Tom Brewer, the kid right-hander, was almost forgotten in preseason talk of Boston's pennant potential, but now he's the ace of the Red Sox staff and the only American League pitcher with nine victories.

11-10 Record Last Year

An 11-10 record last season and a 10-9 mark in 1954 put Brewer in the shadows. Now he's sailing free and easy, with a 2.38 earned run average, eight straight victories and six complete games in his 11 starts. What's more, he has Cleveland's Indians stuffed in his hip pocket.

Baltimore replaced Detroit in fifth, by one point, edging the Tigers 5-4. Washington split a twi-night twin bill with Kansas City, winning 4-3, then losing 6-3. New York and Chicago were idle.

St. Louis blew a chance for the National League lead, losing to Brooklyn 8-6 as the Dodgers moved into fourth place while Milwaukee slumped to fifth in a 6-2 defeat by Philadelphia. St. Louis fell from second to third behind Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, idle with New York and Chicago.

Dodgers on Move

The Cardinals chipped in three unearned runs as the Dodgers scored four in the eighth, then iced it with Randy Jackson's two-run double in the ninth. Tom Poholsky lost his fourth straight while Don Newcombe won his ninth with Clem Labine's relief. Snider had two homers and a single for three RBIs for the Brooks.

While the Dodgers, who benched slump-ridden Roy Campanella, were making it seven victories in nine games, the Braves were dropping their ninth decision in last 12—all at home. Stu Miller, the ex-Card, put his lifetime mark at 8-2 against Milwaukee while Gene Conley lost his third. The Phils packed it away with three in the fifth on four singles and Gran Hamner's double.

Frank Lary, the kid who beats the Yankees, was bopped for three Baltimore runs in the first and the clinching markers in the fifth on Bob Nieman's two-run homer. Hec Brown won his third in relief.

A three-run pinch homer by Carlos Paula beat reliefer Bobby Shantz and the A's in the eighth-inning of the opener, in which Johnny Groth's two homers accounted for the Kansas City runs. Pete Ramos won it in relief. Alex Kellner won the nightcap, giving himself two runs on a single.

Campanella Given Rest by Brooklyn

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's three-time most valuable player currently benched with a .212 batting average, says he's "not worried a bit" about his slump.

Dodger Manager Walt Alston announced before Monday night's game he was taking his tireless 34-year-old round man out of the lineup "for a rest." Alston said Campanella had been playing on a bad leg the last two weeks.

After his club's 8-6 victory which knocked the St. Louis Cardinals into third place Monday night Alston maintained he hadn't benched Campy for weak hitting.

"Isn't he entitled to a day off once in a while?" Alston asked. "Any other catcher — Berra (New York Yankee star) or any of them — gets a day off and nothing happens. But Campanella is rested and you fellows want to make a big thing out of it."

Campanella insisted "I'm not tired out." He said his leg injury was "just a pulled muscle."

Boros May Be National Open Winner Again

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—You don't hear much about Julius Boros in speculation about the National Open golf championship, but some time before the 57th Open starts Thursday it might be well to remember a few facts about the big moose from Bridgeport.

Boros won the championship in 1952, when he still was a relatively unknown pro. He usually does well in big tournaments on big courses. And he's about the best trap shot in the business.

Nerve Racking Course

All these things could be important on this week's 72 nerve-racking holes over the tree-lined, 6,902-yard Oak Hill course.

It was on the same Oak Hill east course — slightly shorter then—that Boros played in his last amateur championship and went to the quarter finals before he was beaten by Bill Campbell.

Oak Hill offers a pleasant contrast to the San Francisco Olympic Club, where the 1955 Open was played in a chorus of wails about the "unfair" deep rough and artificial toughness.

This is a handsome course with built-in penalties for bad shots. The fairways are comparatively wide, the hills gentle and right now the rough isn't as deep as U. S. Golf Assn. officials would like to have it

Should Be Deeper

That factor drew a comment from amateur champion Harvie Ward, among others, after Monday's practice rounds. "You can hit right out of the rough most of the time," Ward said. "But they're watering a lot and it should be deeper by Thursday."

Most of the changes in the course for the Open were in the locations of traps. New ones were added and others re-designed to frame the big level greens and some fairway traps created to pinch in the target areas for long drives.

This would seem to be made to order to Boros and his sand wedge — except for the fact that a dozen or so others in the field of 162 can play the shots just as well and each may be competively sharper.

Since winning his second Tam O'Shanter world championship last August, Boros has been enriching himself and the tax collector by playing exhibitions. He's just back from playing a few in Germany and says the edge is off his game.

Muscles Are Sore

"Playing only two or three times a week, I can't keep in condition and I get awfully tired," he said. "Even the muscles in my arms feel sore. Maybe that's a good sign — it always seems to be a sick man who's the winner."

The same lack of sharpness could be costly to Ben Hogan, the man who automatically is installed as favorite whenever he plays.

Hogan, seeking to win his fifth National Open title, maintains that his game is "rotten" and that he hasn't much chance of winning. In almost the same breath he terms Oak Hill one of the easiest courses on which he has played the Open.

New Bloomington Belts Meeker 12-2

New Bloomington is awaiting further action in the Marion County baseball league following a 12-2 victory over Meeker Saturday.

The winners banged out a 14-hit attack in gaining the verdict. Schaber went the route for New Bloomington, allowing five hits. White was the Meeker hurler.

Boblenz with a double and two singles, Boles with a pair of doubles, and Ullmer with two hits paced the winners' attack. Roush had two hits for Meeker. New Bloomington's junior high club whipped Pleasant 18-4 the same evening.

Marion County Bank whipped National City Bank 9-2 and Isaly Dairy sunk Mac's Trading Post 17-7.

Jack McGraw's one-hit pitching paced County Bank to its sixth straight victory in the opener.

Two-run clusters in the first and third frames and five tallies in the fifth on two hits constituted County Bank's scoring. The winners garnered only four hits off Terry Cudd and Roger Graff but benefited from eight walks and three errors. Cudd and Graff fanned nine.

Isaly scored in every inning to whip Mac's, netting six markers in the first and four more in the second to record victory No. 4. Five runs in the third and two in the fourth concluded the protested contest.

Skipper Leonard and Ricky Ishida, who came on in the first, held the losers to only three hits—all in the opening frame when Mac's scored four runs. Three more in the second on no hits concluded its run production.

Leonard and Ishida struck out nine while walking four.

The winners banged out a 13-hit attack off two Mac hurlers. Terry Pierce started and George Carpenter followed him to the hill. They fanned three, walked three and hit a batsman. The losers were charged with 10 errors.

Injury to Hand Of Reds' Star Is Not Serious

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Redleg brass breathed a little easier after Brooks Lawrence's pitching hand injury last Sunday turned out not serious.

Lawrence is one of the pitching-short Reds' four regular starters and has the best record so far—seven wins without a loss.

If he were knocked out of action for very long, it would place heavy burden on the rest of the pitching staff.

The big Springfield, Ohio right-hander suffered a jammed thumb when a liner struck his hand in the first inning against Brooklyn Sunday.

But trainer Wayne Anderson said ice controlled the thumbs' swelling and Lawrence should be able to start again at his next turn.

The Reds had a day off Monday, but hung onto their National League lead with an assist by Brooklyn's Dodgers.

The Dodgers topped the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-6, and kept the Cards from pushing Cincinnati out of the lead.

Cincinnati's lead was menaced after two straight losses last weekend to the Dodgers—the first losses to Brooklyn this season.

Pittsburgh's amazing Pirates turn in here today for the first of a two-game series, and the Pirates, now in second place, will be fighting to take over the league lead again—for the second time this season.

Pittsburgh nominated Bob Friend, the winningest pitcher in either league this year with 10 victories, to oppose Cincinnati's Joe Nuxhall, a 17-game winner last year, but a slow starter in 1956.

Patterson's Camp Says Moore Easy

NEW YORK (AP) — The Floyd Patterson camp—meaning manager Cus D'Amato—thinks old folks Archie Moore will present a relatively easy problem.

Easier, that is, than Hurricane Jackson

"We think Moore is an easier, far easier, fighter for Patterson than Jackson was," snapped D'Amato today. "We certainly will not consider it a lucky break for us if we have to put off the fight until a later date."

D'Amato was referring, of course, to Patterson's broken right hand, a direct result of the Jackson fight last Friday. D'Amato is going on the theory that the injury will heal in time to fight Moore for the heavyweight title.

"Don't get me wrong," continued the voluble D'Amato. "Moore is dangerous because he is a puncher who can knock you out with one punch. But Jackson, so much younger and stronger, is far rougher than Moore. We knew we had a difficult problem in Jackson. We knew we have no such problem in Moore.

Moore and his manager Charlie Johnston agreed with D'Amato they wanted no truck with Jackson But their reasons were different.

"We're only interested in fighters who win," sniffed Johnston.

Columbus Jets Nail 2-1 Win Over Toronto

By The Associated Press

The Columbus Jets are the hottest team in the International League at the moment, scooting along at a .682 clip for the past 2½ weeks, but from the progress they've made it looks like they're running on a treadmill.

They made it 15 victories in 22 games since May 24 with a 2-1 decision over Toronto Monday night. But while the victory upped them to third place, they've managed to gain only two games on front-running Montreal in that span.

The Royals padded their lead to two games over idle Rochester Monday night with a 13-8 frolic over Richmond in the only other game scheduled. Montreal has been rolling at a .625 pace since May 24 and Rochester has been playing .647 ball to explain the Jets' slow climb.

An unearned run got the job done for Columbus against the Maple Leafs. An error by first baseman Ed Stevens, a wild pitch and Butch McCord's single got the clinching run home in the third. Singles by Spook Jacobs, Dave Melton and Russ Sullivan brought one across in the first inning.

Grand Jurors At Crawford Hear 9 Cases

BUCYRUS—The Crawford County grand jury here today continued its consideration of nine cases in what appeared to be one of the lightest grand jury sessions in several years, acording to Prosecutg John D. Sears Jr.

Prosecutor Sears said today there was a possibility that the jury would wind up its session late today although it is scheduled for three days.

Among the cases being considered are a criminal assault charge against Ralph E. Likens, 31, Bucyrus; a grand larceny count against Ray Balliett, 32, Galion, and seven other cases.

Other cases presented to the jury by Prosecutor Sears, include: Hazen L. Pratt, an employe of a carnival, auto theft; Ted McClain, 46, Lima, breaking and entering; Casel Keith McGee, 22, Ashland, and Thomas Fletcher, 20, of near Mansfield, violations of Public Utilities Commission regulations; Franklin Meyers, 31, of Galion, non-support; Ira F. Danny Kaye's Debut

I see where "I Love Lucy" plans to go out of doors a lot more next year. That's the trend: getting out of doors, in fact, getting as far away as possible. One guy who got as far out of doors as possible is Danny Kaye who has just completed a 6½-week, 25-city tour of Europe, the Near East and Africa for the United Nations International Child Emergency Fund which, with their mania for initials over there, is generally referred to as UNI-CEF.

JOHN CROSBY

Kaye did a 22-minute movie short about the work of UNICEF last fall which has been shown in probably more theaters than any movie short ever made. This time "See It Now" cameras followed him around and shot some 240,000 feet of film which would run for about 20 hours.

Mr. Kaye and "See It Now" staff are going to boil this down either to two one-hour TV documentaries or one 90-minute show for release next fall.

KAYE'S PRIME function on this tour was simply to publicize UNICEF's modest little ambition which is simply to eliminate disease and hunger among children the world over. All of it. Entirely. There was no intention for Kaye to entertain and the comedian took not a single word of prepared material with him. Still Kaye can no more avoid entertaining than he can stop breathing and practically everywhere he went he wound up on a stage, ad libbing.

Kaye can speak some languages and can bluff his way through some others but in general, he was before audiences whose tongues were alien to him. "Ninety-nine per cent of children I appeared before hadn't the vaguest idea who I was but I had no problem communicating. The minute an adult makes an idiot of himself in front of a child, you have a basis for communication," he pointed out.

"In most of the places I went there'd be a reception by the Lord Mayor or whoever. I'd show my film (his UNICEF short) and speak. However, in Yugoslavia and Israel and Turkey and Africa, they'd put on shows for me. They'd do the native dances and the songs of the country. Somehow, I'd always get mixed up in it. Not a word was prepared. But if I did get mixed up in it, we'd film it."

KAYE'S WAY of getting mixed up in thes entertainments is rather hard to explain but great fun to watch. He has a fantastic memory not only in his brain but in his muscles. For instance, if he watches a tribal dance in Africa a few minutes, he can do it, too. But somehow, while his dance is recognizably the same tribal dance, it is also very much a Kaye routine with the unmistakable Kaye stamp on it.

In Israel, for example, a local comic did a monologue and pantomime impression of an American western movie. Then Kaye got up on stage and did an impression of the impression — and made it much funnier. Also, whereas the Israeli did his act in English, Kaye perversely did his in Yiddish. It was very funny.

"However, don't get me wrong," Kaye said. "The idea of this television show was not Kaye making entertainment. The idea is to tell the story of what UNICEF is doing all over the world—and in the process there will be entertainment."

MUCH OF THE FOOTAGE will be devoted to Kaye talking to, say, an expert on leprosy in Nigeria and examining the child lepers under his care or finding all about how trichoma was wiped out in Yugoslavia. "You will meet a lot of people who have dedicated their lives to this work," he says. "They're the real heroes of the film."

"However, what entertainment thing an actor can do. You use all the training of a lifetime to make them understand. It's very rewarding. I did was the most rewarding

This will amount to Kaye's television debut. He has previously turned down some rather fabulous offers to do TV shows. This one will be for nothing.

Honey French Toast Is Simple To Prepare

Honey French toast is nutritious, versatile and delicious.

For breakfast serve it with broiled grapefruit, cocoa or coffee, for lunch with a fresh fruit cup or salad, a glass of cold milk and cookies and for the evening meal with link sausage, fresh frozen peas and a fruit salad.

Simple to prepare, just use

2 eggs
1 pint milk
¼ cup honey
½ teaspoon salt
A sprinkling of mace or nutmeg
6 or 8 slices of bread several days old

Beat eggs until light. Warm the milk slightly and blend well with the honey. Add the salt, mace and beaten eggs and stir well. Cut bread about ½ inch thick. Dip each slice into the milk and egg mixture and place on a hot, well-greased griddle. Brown well on both sides. Serve with honey and butter or honey butter.

To make honey butter:

Take ½ cup butter and 1 cup honey and let both stand in a warm room until warm enough to blend well. Beat until well blended. Put in small jar and store in refrigerator.

NBC Throws Allen Against Sullivan Show

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—For almost a year now people in television have been talking about a drama entitled "The Man Who Knocked Off Ed Sullivan" which Paddy Chayefsky is supposed to be writing.

The title expressed the dream wish-fulfillment of many executives of NBC who long have been bothered and bewildered by the phenomenally long and consistently popular appeal of Ed Sullivan over the opposition CBS-TV. Twice in the past season Sullivan has knocked off NBC-TV shows; he simply has captured their audiences so thoroughly that the shows folded.

On Sunday, June 24, NBC is sending in a new show opposite Sullivan. It is shephered by Steven Allen, who long has been delighting millions in the hours around midnight with his "Tonight" show.

"Naturally we're seeking popular entertainers," Allen said, "but I'd hate to see this develop into a booking battle with Ed Sullivan. A booking battle is as self-defeating as an arms race or a price war."

Allen has some interesting plans for the new show besides rounding up "name" entertainers. On the first program, for example, the famed dancing team of Bambi Lynn and Rod Alexander will appear.

A week from Sunday night on the "Steve Allen Show," they'll be dancing on a roof next to the theater. Cameras will catch them from adjoining windows.

Skitch Henderson, who relaxedly conducts a band on "Tonight" with Allen, will relaxedly conduct a much bigger band on the new program.

Retail Managers Study Sale Plans

A regular meeting of the Retail Board of Managers of the Marion Chamber of Commerce was held at noon Monday at Hotel Harding.

A discussion on an off-street parking garage was held and it was noted that the traffic committee of the chamber and representatives of a company building pigeon hole parking garages will meet Wednesday morning at City Hall.

A similar meeting was scheduled for last Wednesday but was called off when the representative of the builder said he could not be in the city for the meeting.

Cy Factor, chairman of th retail promotion committee reported that all plans for the Father's Day sale this week have been completed and that banners proclaiming the event have been distributed to participating stores.

He also discussed the up-coming July dollar days event to be held on July 19 through 20.

Next meeting of the group will be a combination meeting with the retail promotion committee to be held at the hotel on July 9.

Fire Near Elyria Kills 3 in Family; Five Flee

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — A farm couple and their 7-year-old daughter died early Monday in a fire that destroyed their home, once a barn.

Five other children excaped through doors and windows, with the aid of a landlord who owned their home.

The dead were farm laborer Casmire Kryaniak, 40, his wife Ann, 38, and their daughter, Nancy.

The landlord, Henry Rausher, who lived in a house nearby, was awakened by his wife when she smelled smoke early in the morning.

Betty Hutton Is Making First Film in Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Betty Hutton is making her first picture in four years, and other should do as well on their film returns.

During her heyday at Paramount, the blonde bombshell did two or three pictures a year on a flat salary of $5,000 a week. Now she's co-starring with Dana Andrews in "Spring Reunion" at $100,000 plus 20 per cent of the gross. The salary alone comes to around $20,000 a week.

"Not bad for a comeback!" she laughed between takes.

It's a different Betty you see these days. No more the frantic conferences, the tension on the set. She's smooth, easy-going and sure of herself.

"For one thing, I know what I'm doing," she explained. "We had two weeks of rehearsals with Dana, the director, Bob Pirosh, and with the camera crew. We went over the scenes thoroughly so we come to work knowing what we're going to shoot.

"That never happened before. I'd come to the studio and walk right into some guy's arms. After four or five love scenes, I'd say to him, 'by the way, my name's Betty Hutton' "

She said that her husband, Alan Livingston, former Capitol Records biggie and now a top man with NBC, convinced her she should make a comeback. This came after her much-publicized retirement.

"You can't quit this way," he told her. "You think you've been licked. You'll never be happy until you realize you aren't licked. Try it again, but this time go for commercial success. Then you can quit after two or three years and be contented."

Court Returns 8 Children to Utah Woman

ST. GEORGE, Utah (AP) — Juvenile Court Judge Durham Morris ordered Mrs. Vera Johnson Black's eight children restored to her when she promised Monday to teach them polygamy is against the law.

Mrs. Black said she still believes in plural marriage as a religious principle.

The children, ages 4 to 20, were taken from her several months ago and placed in foster homes.

Mrs. Black, who lives on the Utah side of Short Creek, near the Arizona state line, has been described by law enforcement authorities as the plural wife of Leonard Black, who lives on the Arizona side of the community.

Black was arrested several years ago in a roundup of Short Creek polygamists. He served a prison term on a charge of unlawful cohabitation.

Both parents were at the Juvenile Court hearing. They said they had not lived together since 1953 and would continue to live apart. Black promised to support the children.

The Blacks have been members of a cult known as Fundamentalists. Mrs. Black said there now is no organized group in Short Creek which advocates polygamy.

Death Claims Nun

A native of Fremont, she was a school teacher in Elyria and Cleveland for 30 years before joining the Franciscans in 1921.

Force Cut in Half

ORDINANCE NO. 6057

ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE SAFETY-SERVICE DIRECTOR TO ADVERTISE FOR BIDS FOR SERVICES IN CONNECTION WITH THE BILLING OF THE SEWER RENTAL CHARGE AND TO ENTER INTO CONTRACTS THEREFOR, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the City of Marion, State of Ohio:

Section 1. The Safety-Service Director is hereby authorized and directed to advertise for bids for services by a competent contractor to perform the following services in connection with the Sewer Rental Charge provided for by Ordinance Number 6040, and to enter into contracts therefor:

1. Obtain from The Marion Water Company a list of 10,541 (Water Company count) customers now being billed for water, and prepare metal addressing plates in house number sequence therefor.
2. Submit this list to the City for the elimination of those water customers not connected with City sewers.
3. Obtain from the City a list of those residents connected to the City sewer, but not customers of Marion Water Company, and prepare metal plates for these customers to be added to the basic list.
4. Each month, prepare a galley twenty names and addresses per sheet) of the established list of sewer service customers.
5. Send a clerk or clerks with this list to the Water Company at an appropriate date to take off from the Water Company's meter reading books the water consumption for one-half of the residential customers whose meters were read during that month, and all commercial and industrial customers.
6. Each month, working from a chart to be approved by the City, convert the water consumption to sewer service charge billing dollars—these figures to be placed opposite the consumption on the galley for the month.
7. Purchase and furnish the approximate 6,000 two-cent postcards required for the month's billing
8. Print and perforate these bills in an appropriate form, similar to Water Company bills.
9. Imprint on the bills the amount of the footage or the word, "Min", and the amount of money shown by the galley, at the same time preparing an adding machine tape for proof purposes, which is a carbon copy of the postcard bills.
10. Reconcile proof tape total to galley total
11. Deliver the completed bills in street number sequence and completed galley to the City.
12. Promptly make any changes to the list of customers indicated by changes in the Water Company's record books.

Section 2. That said bids shall be based upon a one (1) year contract and if a contract is entered into it shall be for one (1) year.

Section 3. Said bids shall also include the price upon which the metal addressing plates and the special billing machine will be sold to the City at the end of the one year contract if the contract at the end of one year is not renewed with the successful first year bidder.

Section 4. This Ordinance shall be declared to be an emergency measure in that it provides for the safety, health and welfare of the citizens of Marion, Ohio, and for the further reason that there is an immediate need for said services in connection with the Sewer Rental charge, and as such emergency shall take effect and be in force immediately upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Rebel Leader Valle Captured By Argentines

Was Considered Top Figure During Last Weekend's Uprising

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Gen. Juan Jose Valle, sought as a top leader of last weekend's brief but bloody revolt, was reported captured early today.

The newspaper Clarin said it had received information that Valle was taken prisoner and "placed at the disposition of the Army Ministry." Clarin said it did not know where he was seized or whether he had been court-martialed.

There was no official confirmation of the report.

Key Rebel Leaders

Valle and Gen. Raul Tanco, both military bigwigs in the regime of deposed President Juan Peron, were named by the government as the key military leaders in the abortive rebellion. Tanco apparently was still at large.

It was considered likely Valle would face a firing squad, since a high government spokesman said earlier a presidential order commuting 11 death sentences set no precedent for other persons arrested and especially did not extend to Valle and Tanco.

The source said the clemency action by Provisional President Pedro Aramburu affected four men in Santa Rosa, the capital of La Pampa province, four noncommissioned officers at Buenos Aires' Campo de Mayo and three men at La Plata. The order came after firing squads had executed 38 military men and civilians as participants in the revolt.

Face Life Sentences

The source said the 11 probably will be sentenced to life imprisonment.

Military courts meeting in secret sessions now are deliberating the fate of more than 300 persons arrested after the uprising was put down Sunday. Possibly 100 or more persons died in the brief fighting.

Both Valle and Tanco were retired from the army after Peron was overthrown. The government said Valle would have taken over as president if the revolt had succeeded, and it was believed Tanco was to be vice president.

Aramburu told a news conference the main body of the rebels was formed of diehard supporters of Peron. But he said the "head operated with the style of action used by the Communists."

"This movement has ramifications in the rest of America," Aramburu asserted. "By suppressing it we are defending not only Argentine liberty and democracy, but also that of all the American continent."

Navy's Missile Seems Better, Senator Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's Talos antiaircraft guided missile appears to be a "better weapon" than the Army's Nike, according to Sen. Chavez (D-NM).

Chavez is chairman of a Senate Appropriations subcommittee on defense funds. Monday, that group heard the staff chiefs of the Army, Navy and Air Force discuss the relative merits of the Talos and the Nike.

Afterward, Chavez told newsmen, "It appears from the evidence adduced at the hearing that the Talos is a better weapon than the Nike." He said it has longer range.

He added that if pending tests indicate this to be true, the subcommittee probably "will recommend that only that weapon be produced in the future."

The Nike has been emplaced around many of the nation's population and industrial centers. It has become one focal point of interservice rivalry, with critics questioning its ability to knock down the latest and fastest jet aircraft.

The Talos, developed by the Navy for use on light cruisers, also is being installed around continental Air Force bases.

Capsuling testimony by Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations; Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff; and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army staff chief, Chavez said:

"They said the Talos was the best, that it had certain features the Nike did not have, but that the Nike is still important as a land weapon.

"The Talos will be adapted to land use. We will continue to have the Nike, but if the forthcoming tests bear out the evidence adduced today, no new Nike installations will take place."

The New Mexico senator said the Talos will be in "big production" inside of nine months.

Cypriot To Die For Attack on British Airmen

Charged With Firing At 2 Airmen Riding Bicycles in Nicosia

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — A 23-year-old Cypriot was sentenced to death today for shooting at two British airmen.

The defendant, Stelios Mavrommatis, pleaded innocent and presumably will appeal the sentence.

British authorities last May 10 hanged two pro-Greek Cypriats for political shootings in the struggle to end British rule of Cyprus and unite the Mediterranean island with Greece. The pro-Greek Cypriot underground claimed the following day that it had hanged two British soldiers in reprisal for the executions.

Mavrommatis formerly was employed by the royal air force as a clerk. Lawrence Leith and Norman Kitchen, both RAF members, testified at his trial that he was one of three persons who fired at them as they rode bicycles in Nicosia March 15. They said the shots missed, they fired back, chased the three men and caught Mavrommatis.

Greek Churchmen Reported Ousted

LONDON (AP) — The British government disclosed today it has deported a high official of the Greek Orthodox Church in Britain, Archimandrite Kallinikos Macheriotis.

A Home Office spokesman said the clergyman, a Greek national, was placed on a plane for Athens Monday night.

The deportation was ordered by Home Secretary Gwilym Lloyd George "in the public interest," the spokesman said. He declined to elaborate.

Macheriotis carried out his duties at the Greek Orthodox Church in London Monday.

Macheriotis was born in Cyprus, lived for a time in Greece and came to Britain about three years ago. His office of archimandrite is approximately equivalent to that of a provost in Western churches.

The Greek Embassy here said it knew of the deportation of Macheriotis, but a spokesman said he could offer no explanations.

3 Plead Guilty After Theft of Secret Paper

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — An Army sergeant and two East Orange businessmen have pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges in the theft of a secret government document from the Brooklyn Army Terminal.

The guilty pleas were entered before Federal Judge Alfred E. Modarelli Monday by Sydney M. Stern, 39, and Seymour S. Hindman, 39, both of East Orange, and Sgt. Harold E. Brill, 28, stationed at the Brooklyn Army Terminal.

Stern and Hindman, co-owners of the Distinctive Emblem & Uniform Corp. in East Orange, were released in $5,000 bail each, and Brill was continued in $500 bail pending sentence.

The three face maximum sentences of five years and $10,000 fines.

A fourth defendant, Bryant E. Schreiber, 43, of Millburn, who operates a snapshot service in Linden, has not pleaded.

The four men were arrested late last month by the FBI and lawyers. Hindman and Stern claimed the stolen document was only a mailing list.

However, Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. William F. Tompkins described the paper as "of the utmost intelligence significance" because, he said, it contained a directory of "all the U.S. Air Force bases and organizations throughout the world."

The fourth defendant, Schreiber, was charged with photographing the document at the request of Stern and Hindman.
